THE ATTACK ON OTIS.

Correspondents' "Round Robin" Caused a Sensation.

MILES AND MEIKLFJOHN SILENT.

Hay Had Received Advices Which Led Him to Declare Situation Improved. Corbin Declared Facts Had Not Been Suppressed In Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 18.-The publication of the war correspondents' formal indictment of General Otis' management of the Philippine campaign caused a sensation in the departments here. Secretary Hay had received advices from civil as well as military sources in the Philippines which led him to declare that the situation there was certainly improved materially and that the prospects for the future had brightened very much. With these advices, the secretary said, General Otis had had nothing to do, and they were from disinterested persons whose opinions must carry weight. Generally, there was strong disinclination exhibited by the officials to discuss this last "round robin." General Miles, who was acting as secretary of war in the absence of Secretary Alger and Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn, would not comment upon the dispatch.

Regarding statements that cable dispatches received in Washington and other news regarding the war had been ! censored contrary to the usual custom, Adjutant General Corbin said:

Yes, these complaints have been brought to my notice; a word of explanation is perhaps due the country, no less than the department. The en-ormous amount of work the office has been called upon to perform has taxed to the limit the endurance of the clerks. who, hy the way, are as competent as any that can be found anywhere. Complaints were made by several of the assistants and clerks that our clerks were being annoyed and their time taken from legitimate work by direct application for information from people in no way connected with the office or the public service. As a matter of protection of the public interests and good administration, the order of June 22 was issued.

'The censure of the so-called censored press is without just cause, and J. Reisig, M. First Colorado. evidently made under misapprehension of facts. There has been no information received from General Otis that has not been given to the press promptly on the bulletin board in the hall of this office; every fairminded representative of the press will bear witness to this hand, Eighteenth infantry. statement. What would the manager of any one of the complaining papers say if information concerning the business of the paper was inquired for of the printers rather than at the business office of the paper? This is a case ex-

"The standing instructions of the president and secretary of war are that the public shall be given all information we receive; this has been done and will continue to be done. Of course, plans of campaigns that would be of help to Aguinaldo and other rebels have not. and will not be, promulgated, but all facts of events transpired have been given in fullness."

OTIS MADE PROMICES.

Told Correspondents the Censorship Would Be More Liberal-Charges Made In Their Statement.

MANILA, July 11, via Hongkong, July 18.—About a month ago correspondents framed a statement which was presented on Sunday, July 9, to Major General Otis, commanding the military forces of the United States in the Philippine islands, with a request for permission to telegraph it to the United States. The correspondents also asked that they be allowed to cable to their respective papers all facts and different phases of events as they transpired here. The correspondents had two long interviews with General Otis, in the course of which they complained that the evident purpose of the censorship was not to keep information from the enemy, but to keep from the public a knowledge of the real condition of affairs here. It was also asserted by the correspondents that newspapers printed in Manila, which reach the enemy quickly, were permitted to publish statements similar to those which correspondents were forbidden to cable.

General Otis finally promised greater liberality, agreeing to pass all matter that he might consider not detrimental to the interests of the United States. General Otis appointed Captain Green of his staff censor. The statement of the correspondents was as follows:

The undersigned, being all staff correspondents of American newspapers stationed in Manila, unite in the following statement:

We believe that, owing to official dispatches from Manila made public in Wasnington, the people of the United States have not received a correct impression of the situation in the Philippines; but that these dispatches have presented an ultra optimistic view that is not shared by the general officers in

"We believe the dispatches incorrectly represent the existing conditions among the Philippines in respect to dissension and demoralization resulting from the American campaign and to the brigand character of their army.

"We believe the dispatches err in the declaration that 'the situation is well in hand,' and in the assumption that the insurrection can be speedily ended without a greatly increased force.

"We think the tenacity of the Filipino purpose has been underestimated and that the statements are unfounded that volunteers are unwilling to engage in further service.

"The censorship has compelled us to participate in this misrepresentation by excising or altering uncontroverted statements of facts on the plea, as General Otis stated, that 'they would alarm the people at home,' or 'have the people of the United States by the ears.'
"Specifications—Prohibition of hospital reports; suppression of full reports of field operations in the event of failure; number of heat prostrations in the field; systematic minimization of naval operations, and suppression of complete ceports of the situation.

A WOMAN IN UNIFORM.

Put Off the Train Carrying the Nine teenth Infantry, Enroute to the Philippines.

PITTSBURG, July 18.—The First and Third battalions of the Nineteenth infantry, from Camp Meade enroute to the Philippines via San Francisco over the Pennsylvania road, passed through here. There were five trains, one of 18 cars containing regimental baggage dead. F. H. Smith, another member of and equipment and the other four of 10 and 11 cars each for the soldiers. It is not known just when the remaining battalion will leave Camp Meade, but Officer Reno remained on the scene unit will not be long.

A handsome woman, probably 25 years old, the wife of a private in Company K, was discovered on the train, dressed in the regulation army uniform. She came from Martinsburg, W. Va., and boarded the train at Harrisburg. It was her purpose in disguising herself to accompany her husband to Manila and be near him while in the Philippines. She had closely cut her black tresses. She was put off the train in this city. She bid her husband an affectionate farewell and told him that she would meet him in San Francisco.

The dispatch stated that, having just returned tram a trangeal climate they could not from a tropical climate, they could not withstand the cold, and that there were plenty of overcoats in the quartermaster's department. President McKinley Street Car Men Again Out In directed that such clothing as was necessary for the comfort of the troops be issued to them.

It was stated at the war department that the matter of clothing for the MAGNATES ACCUSED OF BAD FAITH. troops was at their own disposal. Each man is allowed $100 annually for clothing, and, if he does not use the whole amount, he draws the residue. The Oregon men can draw upon this clothing credit if they want to and get overcoats or other things, but it will be charged to their clothing account and taken out of the money paid them when they are mustered out.

WHAT MILES RECOMMENDED

He Did Want More Than Six Thousand Troops Sent to the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, July 18 .- A statement was issued at army headquarters, regarding the discussion in the press, as to differences of opinion regarding the troops to be sent to the Philippines. Upon receiving news of Dewey's victory, General Miles recommended that 5,000 men and certain guns be sent.

Later Admiral Dewey asked for 5,000 men, saying the Spanish force was estimated at 10,000 and rebels 30,000.

General Miles therefore recommended about 15,425 men, over 10,000 more than Dewey asked for, Miles thinking we should have more than the Spaniards. Merritt objected to so many volunteers and wanted more regulars. Miles maintained that the force he designated and the men of the Tenth Pennsylvania, which in addition were assigned, were sufficient. The statement closed as follows:

"Certain newspapers have attempted to show that General Miles did not want more than 6,000 troops to be sent to the Philippines under General Merritt, but the official correspondence shows this not to be a fact."

ANOTHER FUED BROKE OUT.

Five Men Killed In a Fight In Kentuckey.

LOUISVILLE, July 18.—A special from London, Ky., tells of a report reaching there of the outbreak of another feud in Clay county by which five men lost their lives.

The dead are said to be: Robert Philpot. Ed Fisher. Aaron Morris. Jim Griffin. Hugh Griffin.

These fatalities resulted from a pitched battle fought near Little Goose creek, three miles from Manchester. The feud dates back nearly two years.

BLOODY FIGHT WITH ROBBERS.

One Bandit and an Officer Killed-Others Wounded.

EAST LAS VEGAS, July 18.-Word was received here that the dead body of one of the train robbers concerned in the Folsom train robbery on the Colorado Southern railway had been conveyed to Cimarron, N. M., from the scene of the fight and was afterwards taken to Springer, where an inquest was held. The other two robbers abandoned their horses and were being pursued.

Later accounts of the fight state that the train robbers were overtaken at about 5 o'clock Sunday morning in the canon ten miles above Cimarron. About 50 shots were exchanged.

Sheriff Ed Farr received the first wound in the wrist, but bandaged it and renewed the battle. He was shot a second time through the body and fell the posse, was shot through the leg. H. N. Love sustained a dangerous til 8 o'clock Sunday night, and then left for Cimarron to secure medical aid, which was secured at Springer.

Employes Charged That Company Officials Did Not Keep Their Agreement In Full-Mayor Farley Declared He Would Protect Cars Against Violence.

CLEVELAND, July 18.—The inauguration of a second strike by the employes of the big Consolidated Railroad company was a complete surprise to the putlic and nearly so to the company. Ever since the men returned to work, about three weeks ago, under an agreement prepared by a committee of the city council and signed by representatives of the strikers and of the company. there had been frequent complaints on the part of the men that the company was not living up to the agreement. Several conferences were held, the latest about a week ago, and it was then announced that everything was satisfactory or would be as soon as the company had been given ample time to adjust its schedules and arrange the runs.

The presence on cars of the nonunion men who were retained after the settlement of the strike was still a bone of contention, however, and a crisis was reached when, as is claimed, a number of union men were discharged for refusing to go out on cars with nonthe decision to strike was reached. All the lines were tied up for awhile when the operation of the Euclid avenue line with non-union men under police pro-tection was undertaken. Cars were run at five-minute intervals on that line until evening, but no attempt was made to move cars on other lines.

Henry A. Everett, president of the company, issued a statement in which he says the terms of the agreement with the strikers has been strictly adhered to, but it was impossible to inaugurate all the reforms promptly because of the continued interference with the non-union crews and he holds the union men directly responsible for this. He attributes the present strike to a feeling of disappointment on the part of the union men because the nonunion men have not been "mobbed and beaten out of the company's service.' He says he will operate the cars if he is given police protection. Protection All He Is Likely to Get, as General Otis has been promised by Mayor Farley and it is said that the militia will be called out if the police are unable to preserve order.

There has been a little disorder, but nothing of a serious nature.

BOTH SIDES STUBBORN.

The Trolley Strike In Brooklyn Apparently Was No Nearer a Settlement.

NEW YORK, July 18 .- The strike situation in Brooklyn remained unchanged. The striking employes were even more determined and the managers of the rapid transit lines were obdurate and unflinching.

Cars were run on most of the lines governed by the traction company from early morning until 7 o'clock in the evening, but after sundown there was a considerable falling off in the service, and by 9 o'clock not a car was moving on any of the lines affected by the striking motormen and conductors. The roads comprising the Nassau system were most effectively crippled.

None of the striking employes returned to work, and most of them were busy during the day influencing union and non-union men on the other lines to quit work. In this respect the strikers were partially successful, but they made no inroads on the running of the Putnam avenue cars. This line is practically intact, not more than haif a dozen of its employes being affiliated with the strikers.

The Coney Island Railroad company picked a rich harvest on all of its lines during the day. The Franklin avenue, Smith and Jay street, Hamilton avenue and De Kalb lines were running on full time and carried a great number of passengers throughout the day and

The Coney Island company lived up to its agreement with its employes, and consequently its business was not interfered with in the slightest. In fact, the business on these roads was considerably augmented, as many travelers patronized the cars, although in many cases going blocks out of their way to

The strikers held a meeting to which they invited President Rossiter and Seth L. Keeney. Speeches were made on both sides, but toward the close of the meeting President Rossiter told the men that they could come back to work at 6 o'clock last evening, but he assured them that the company would not concede any of their demands, and expressed himself as believing that the strikers had no grievances to back up their actions.

"There is no strike nor cause for it," said Mr. Rossiter.

"You lie, you lie," came from 500 throats in answer to this assertion, and it looked for a time as ir serious trouble would ensue. Fortunately wiser heads governed the more active strikers and no damage was done to either of the representatives of the company.

MAYOR HARRISON DECLINED

Refused to Welcome Democratic Committeemen, as He Didn't Like the Local Committee.

CHICAGO, July 18.-Mayor Carter H. Harrison sent the following letter to the committee in charge of arrangements for the Democratic meeting at the Auditorium July 20.

J. F. Cooling, Esq., Chairman Committee of Arrangements

DEAR SIR-Replying to your favor of the 14th inst., in which you ask me to deliver an address of welcome at the Auditorium, July 20, to the national Democratic committee and "a large number of other prominent Democrats of America," I regret my inability to accept. In ordinary circumstances I should be only too glad, both as mayor of Chicago and as a Democrat, to welcome the national committee or any number of prominent Democrats to Chicago, the city in which the platform of 1896 was framed, and in which William J. Bryan was elevated to his present leadership of the national Democracy. I can not but think, however, it would be an absurdity to welcome these distinguished men under the auspices of a self-constituted committee whose personnel is too obscure to be known even in its home city. Had this meeting been organized under the direction of Democrats of regular type and known party standing, it would have afforded me great pleasure to be present. In the union men. A meeting followed and existing circumstances, while thanking you for the honor, I must beg leave to be excused.

Respectfully yours, CARTER H. HARRISON.

Altgeld said he was sorry the young man had failed to accept the opportunity to make himself a party leader.

Gorman Will Not Attend.

BALTIMORE, July 18 .- Former United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman will probably not be able to attend the coming meeting of the Democratic national committee, mhich will take place in Chicago Thursday next, but will likely be represented in the meeting by Colonel L. Victor Baughman of Frederick county, who holds Mr. Gorman's proxy for this occasion.

BREVET FOR COL. HAWKINS.

Refused to Recommend His Promotion.

WASHINGTON, July 18.-Representative Graham of Allegheny, who brought the subject of Colonel Hawkins' promotion up in a talk with the president, was informed that General Otis had failed to recommend the colonel for promotion. In fact, it appears that General Otis expressly declined to make the recommendation in answer to a direct inquiry sent him at the president's suggestion.

This action of Otis is a serious obstacle in the way of conferring the desired honor on Colonel Hawkins if the established usages of the military service are to be followed. Another obstacle which the president intimated stood in the way is the fact that the list of brigadier generals is now full, and that the war department authorities take the position that no further nominations in the grade can be made, even temporarily.

Altogether Mr. Graham got the impression that Colonel Hawkins' promotion was not probable. He thinks, however, that the executive will give the colonel the brevet rank of brigadier before he is mustered out. To this there does not appear to be any obstacle.

To Greet Dewey.

VIENNA, July 18.—It was understood that the United States minister to Austria-Hungary, Mr. Addison C. Harris, and others connected with the American legation, as well as most of the United States consuls in Austria-Hungary, will go to Trieste to greet Admiral Dewey upon his arrival there.

St. Louis, July 18.-Mr. George Schaefer of St. Louis, who last winter offered the National League $100,000 for a clear title to the St. Louis baseball franchise, and who is interested in the new baseball organization, said in part:

"We have already completed a first class organization, composed of leading eastern as well as leading western

"Buffalo, Detroit and Milwaukee are anxious to join us.

"We have clubs enough now to complete our organization without the as sistance of the cities named. "The St. Louis end of the new league only I can speak for. It is as solid as a rock. Ted Sullivan, the veteran baseball manager, said soon after his arrival from Chicago: "The new league is a certain go, and everyone in Chicago is talking about it. Up there they say that Anson and Loftus will be at the head of the new Chicago club."

Cars were run at five-minute intervals on that line until evening, but no attempt was made to move cars on other lines.

Henry A. Everett, president of the company, issued a statement in which he says the terms of the agreement with the strikers has been strictly adhered to, but it was impossible to inaugurate all the reforms promptly because of the continued interference with the non-union crews and he holds the union men directly responsible for this. He attributes the present strike to a feeling of disappointment on the part of the union men because the nonunion men have not been "mobbed and beaten out of the company's service." He says he will operate the cars if he is given police protection. Protection has been promised by Mayor Farley and it is said that the militia will be called out if the police are unable to preserve order.

There has been a little disorder, but nothing of a serious nature.

BOTH SIDES STUBBORN.

The Trolley Strike In Brooklyn Appar ently Was No Nearer a Settlement.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The strike situ ation in Brooklyn remained unchanged. The striking employes were even more determined and the managers of the rapid transit lines were obdurate and unflinching.

Cars were run on most of the lines governed by the traction company from early morning until 7 o'clock in the evening, but after sundown there was a considerable falling off in the service. and by 9 o'clock not a car was moving on any of the lines affected by the striking motormen and conductors. The roads comprising the Nassau system were most effectively crippled. None of the striking employes returned to work, and most of them were busy during the day influencing union and non-union men on the other lines to quit work. In this respect the strikers were partially successful, but they made no inroads on the running of the Putnam avenue cars. This line is practically intact, not more than haif a dozen of its employes being affiliated with the strikers.

The Coney Island Railroad company picked a rich harvest on all of its lines during the day. The Franklin avenue, Smith and Jay street, Hamilton avenue and De Kalb lines were running on full time and carried a great number of passengers throughout the day and

The Coney Island company lived up to its agreement with its employes, and consequently its business was not interfered with in the slightest. In fact, the business on these roads was considerably augmented, as many travelers patronized the cars, although in many cases going blocks out of their way to

The strikers held a meeting to which they invited President Rossiter and Seth L. Keeney. Speeches were made on both sides, but toward the close of the meeting President Rossiter told the men that they could come back to work at 6 o'clock last evening, but he assured them that the company would not concede any of their demands, and expressed himself as believing that the strikers had no grievances to back up their actions.

"There is no strike nor cause for it," said Mr. Rossiter.
"You lie, you lie," came from 500 throats in answer to this assertion, and it looked for a time as ir serious trouble would ensue. Fortunately wiser heads governed the more active strikers and no damage was done to either of the representatives of the company.

MAYOR HARRISON DECLINED

Refused to Welcome Democratic Committeemen, as He Didn't Like the Local Committee.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Mayor Carter H. Harrison sent the following letter to the committee in charge of arrangements for the Democratic meeting at the Auditorium July 20.

J. F. Cooling, Esq., Chairman Committee of Arrangements:

DEAR SIR-Replying to your favor of the 14th inst., in which you ask me to deliver an address of welcome at the Auditorium, July 20, to the national Democratic committee and "a large number of other prominent Democrats of America," I regret my inability to accept. In ordinary circumstances I should be only too glad, both as mayor of Chicago and as a Democrat, to welcome the national committee or any number of prominent Democrats to Chicago, the city in which the platform of 1896 was framed, and in which William J. Bryan was elevated to his present leadership of the national Democracy. I can not but think, however, it would be an absurdity to welcome these distinguished men under the auspices of a self-constituted committee whose personnel is too obscure to be known even in its home city. Had this meeting been organized under the direction of Democrats of regular type and known party standing, it would have afforded me great pleasure to be present. In the existing circumstances, while thanking you for the honor, I must beg leave to be excused.

Respectfully yours, CARTER H. HARRISON.

Altgeld said he was sorry the young man had failed to accept the opportunity to make himself a party leader.

Gorman Will Not Attend.

BALTIMORE, July 18.—Former United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman will probably not be able to attend the coming meeting of the Democratic national committee, mhich will take place in Chicago Thursday next, but will likely be represented in the meeting by Colonel L. Victor Baughman of Frederick county, who holds Mr. Gorman's proxy for this occasion.

BREVET FOR COL. HAWKINS.

All He Is Likely to Get, as G Refused to Recommend His Promotion.

WASHINGTON, July 18.-Representative Graham of Allegheny, who brought the subject of Colonel Hawkins' promotion up in a talk with the president, was informed that General Otis had failed to recommend the colonel for promotion. In fact, it appears that General Otis expressly declined to make the recommendation in answer to a direct inquiry sent him at the president's suggestion.

This action of Otis is a serious obstacle in the way of conferring the desired honor on Colonel Hawkins if the established usages of the military service are to be followed. Another obstacle which the president intimated stood in the way is the fact that the list of brigadier generals is now full, and that the war department authorities take the position that no further nominations in the grade can be made, even temporarily.

Altogether Mr. Graham got the impression that Colonel Hawkins' promotion was not probable. He thinks, however, that the executive will give the colonel the brevet rank of brigadier before he is mustered out. To this there does not appear to be any obstacle.

To Greet Dewey.

VIENNA, July 18.—It was understood that the United States minister to Austria-Hungary, Mr. Addison C. Harris, and others connected with the American legation, as well as most of the United States consuls in Austria-Hungary, will go to Trieste to greet Admiral Dewey upon his arrival there.

NEW BASEBALL LEAGUE.

St. Louis, July 18.-Mr. George Schaefer of St. Louis, who last winter offered the National League $100,000 for a clear title to the St. Louis baseball franchise, and who is interested in the new baseball organization, said in part: "We have already completed a first class organization, composed of leading eastern as well as leading western

"Buffalo, Detroit and Milwaukee are anxious to join us. "We have clubs enough now to complete our organization without the assistance of the cities named.

"The St. Louis end of the new league only I can speak for. It is as solid as a rock. Ted Sullivan, the veteran baseball manager, said soon after his arrival from Chicago: "The new league is a certain go, and everyone in Chicago is talking about it.

Up there they say that Anson and Lof-tus will be at the head of the new Chicago club."

THE ATTACK ON OTIS.

Correspondents' "Round Robin" Caused a Sensation.

MILES AND MEIKLFJOHN SILENT.

Hay Had Received Advices Which Led Him to Declare Situation Improved. Corbin Declared Facts Had Not Been Suppressed In Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 18 .- The publication of the war correspondents' formal indictment of General Otis' management of the Philippine campaign caused a sensation in the departments here. Secretary Hay had received advices from civil as well as military sources in the Philippines which led him to declare that the situation there was certainly improved materially and that the prospects for the future had brightened very much. With these advices, the secretary said, General Otis had had nothing to do, and they were from disinterested persons whose opinions must carry weight. Generally, there was strong disinclination exhibited by the oficials to discuss this last "round robin." General Miles, who was acting as secretary of war in the absence of Secretary Alger and Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn, would not comment upon the dispatch.

Regarding statements that cable dispatches received in Washington and other news regarding the war had been censored contrary to the usual custom, Adjutant General Corbin said:

Yes, these complaints have been brought to my notice; a word of explanation is perhaps due the country, no less than the department. The enormous amount of work the office has been called upon to perform has taxed to the limit the endurance of the clerks, who, hy the way, are as competent as any that can be found anywhere. Complaints were made by several of the assistants and clerks that our clerks were being annoyed and their time taken from legitimate work by direct application for information from people in no way connected with the office or the public service. As a matter of protection of the public interests and good administration, the order of June 22 was issued.

The censure of the so-called censored press is without just cause, and evidently made under misapprehension of facts. There has been no information received from General Otis that has not been given to the press promptly on the bulletin board in the hall of this office; every fairminded representative of the press will bear witness to this statement. What would the manager of any one of the complaining papers say if information concerning the business of the paper was inquired for of the printers rather than at the business office of the paper? This is a case exactly in point.

"The standing instructions of the president and secretary of war are that the public shall be given all information we receive; this has been done and will continue to be done. Of course, plans of campaigns that would be of help to Aguinaldo and other rebels have not. and will not be, promulgated, but all facts of events transpired have been given in fullness.'

OTIS MADE PROMICES.

Told Correspondents the Censorship Would Be More Liberal-Charges Made In Their Statement.

MANILA, July 11, via Hongkong, July 18.—About a month ago correspondents framed a statement which was presented on Sunday, July 9, to Major General Otis, commanding the military forces of the United States in the Philippine islands, with a request for permission to telegraph it to the United States. The correspondents also asked that they be allowed to cable to their respective papers all facts and different phases of events as they transpired here. The correspondents had two long interviews with General Otis, in the course of which they complained that the evident purpose of the censor-ship was not to keep information from the enemy, but to keep from the public a knowledge of the real condition of affairs here. It was also asserted by the correspondents that newspapers printed in Manila, which reach the enemy quickly, were permitted to publish statements similar to those which correspondents were forbidden to cable.

General Otis finally promised greater liberality, agreeing to pass all matter that he might consider not detrimental to the interests of the United States. General Otis appointed Captain Green of his staff censor.

The statement of the correspondents was as follows:

The undersigned, being all staff correspondents of American newspapers stationed in Manila, unite in the following statement: We believe that, owing to official dispatches from Manila made public in Wasnington, the people of the United States have not received a correct impression of the situation in the Philippines; but that these dispatches have presented an ultra optimistic view that

"We believe the dispatches incorrectly represent the existing conditions among the Philippines in respect to dissension and demoralization resulting from the American campaign and to the brigand character of their army.

"We believe the dispatches err in the declaration that 'the situation is well in hand,' and in the assumption that the insurrection can be speedily ended without a greatly increased force.

"We think the tenacity of the Filipino purpose has been underestimated and that the statements are unfounded that volunteers are unwilling to engage in further service.

"The censorship has compelled us to participate in this misrepresentation by excising or altering uncontroverted statements of facts on the plea, as General Otis stated, that 'they would alarm the people at home, or have the people of the United States by the ears.'
"Specifications—Prohibition of hospital reports; suppression of full reports of field operations in the event of failure; number of heat prostrations in the field; systematic minimization of naval operations, and suppression of complete ceports of the situation.

A WOMAN IN UNIFORM.

Put Off the Train Carrying the Nineteenth Infantry, Enroute to the Philippines.

PITTSBURG, July 18.—The First and Third battalions of the Nineteenth infantry, from Camp Meade enroute to the Philippines via San Francisco over the Pennsylvania road, passed through here. There were five trains, one of 18 cars containing regimental baggage and equipment and the other four of 10 and 11 cars each for the soldiers. It is not known just when the remaining battalion will leave Camp Meade, but it will not be long.

A handsome woman, probably 25 years old, the wife of a private in Company K, was discovered on the train, dressed in the regulation army uniform. She came from Martinsburg, W. Va., and boarded the train at Harrisburg. It was her purpose in disguising herself to accompany her husband to Manila and be near him while in the Philippines. She had closely cut her black tresses. She was put off the train in this city. She bid her husband an affectionate farewell and told him that she would meet him in San Francisco.

HARRISBURG, July 18.—Recruits for the new Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth regiments of volunteers for the Philippine service were reaching Camp Meade from various sections at the rate of from 25 to 100 per day and there are several hundred at Camp Meade at

It was stated at the war department that the matter of clothing for the troops was at their own disposal. Each man is allowed $100 annually for clothing, and, if he does not use the whole amount, he draws the residue. The Oregon men can draw upon this clothing credit if they want to and get overcoats or other things, but it will be charged to their clothing account and taken out of the money paid them when they are mustered out.

WHAT MILES RECOMMENDED

He Did Want More Than Six Thousand Troops Sent to the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, July 18 .- A statement was issued at army headquarters, regarding the discussion in the press, as to differences of opinion regarding the troops to be sent to the Philippines. Upon receiving news of Dewey's victory, General Miles recommended that 5,000 men and certain guns be sent.

Later Admiral Dewey asked for 5,000 men, saying the Spanish force was estimated at 10,000 and rebels 30,000.

General Miles therefore recommended about 15,425 men, over 10,000 more than Dewey asked for, Miles thinking we should have more than the Spaniards. Merritt objected to so many volunteers and wanted more regulars. Miles maintained that the force he designated and the men of the Tenth Pennsylvania, which in addition were assigned, were sufficient. The statement closed as follows:

"Certain newspapers have attempted to show that General Miles did not want more than 6,000 troops to be sent to the Philippines under General Merritt, but the official correspondence shows this not to be a fact."

Later accounts of the fight state that the train robbers were overtaken at about 5 o'clock Sunday morning in the canon ten miles above Cimarron. About 50 shots were exchanged.

Sheriff Ed Farr received the first wound in the wrist, but bandaged it and renewed the battle. He was shot a second time through the body and fell dead. F. H. ### MAGNATES ACCUSED OF BAD FAITH.

Employes Charged That Company Officials Did Not Keep Their Agreement In Full-Mayor Farley Declared He Would Protect Cars Against Violence.

CLEVELAND, July 18.-The inauguration of a second strike by the employes of the big Consolidated Railroad company was a complete surprise to the putlic and nearly so to the company. Ever since the men returned to work, about three weeks ago, under an agreement prepared by a committee of the city council and signed by representatives of the strikers and of the company. there had been frequent complaints on the part of the men that the company was not living up to the agreement. Several conferences were held, the latest about a week ago, and it was then announced that everything was satisfactory or would be as soon as the company had been given ample time to adjust its schedules and arrange the runs.

The presence on cars of the non-union men who were retained after the settlement of the strike was still a bone of contention, however, and a crisis was reached when, as is claimed, a number of union men were discharged for the decision to strike was reached. All the lines were tied up for awhile when the operation of the Euclid avenue line with non-union men under police pro-tection was undertaken. Cars were run at five-minute intervals on that line until evening, but no attempt was made to move cars on other lines.

Henry A. # WOMEN'S SECRETS

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over thirty years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, and the honor paid him by the profession as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without Every woman's letter which contains her secret remains her secret It is read in private, answered in private. and its contents guarded as a sacred confidence. # WOMEN'S SECRETS who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent, of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over thirty years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, and the honor paid him by the profession as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. Every woman's letter which contains her secret remains her secret, It is read in private, answered in private, and its contents guarded as a sacred confidence. That no third party should enter into this secret, all replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, with out any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. V.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes Weak Women Strong and Sick Women Well.

STEUBENVILLE TOO

Offers That Town a Library on Same Terms as Ours.

Steubenville will also have an opportunity to secure a $50,000 library from Andrew Carnegie, on the same terms as this city. Sometime ago Dr. A. M. Reid, of Steubenville, wrote to Mr. Carnegie, calling his attention to the fact that at one time he had been employed in Steubenville as a telegraph operator. Mr. Carnegie replied, stating that he remembered the days he spent in Steubenville and that at some future time he might do something for Steubenville if the citizens would show a disposition to help sustain a library.

On Saturday Doctor Reid received another letter containing a similar offer to that sent to Attorney Travis for East Liverpool both letters having evidently been mailed at the same time.

Steubenville is enthusiastic over the matter and proposes to accept the offer. The library will be maintained by a one mill tax the same as in this city. Several sites have been offered.

Mr. Dusenoury was the appointee of Mayor Samuel J. Swartz, Republican, who was elected last spring. Representatives of the three provinces moved the adoption of a resolution commendatory to a degree only short of being mandatory, recommending to the executive board the calling of the next general synod at Bethlehem, Pa., in 1900.

Foreign Expert's Plan of Philippine Campaign.

The idea current in American newspapers of raising 100,000 men and "crushing the rebels once for all" is a most foolish one. Such a force would only cost millions and accomplish nothing. You cannot maneuver 100,000 men in a tropical forest, or feed them either, says the London Spectator. Ten thousand regulars well led, steadily re-enforced from home and aided by 5,000 native auxiliaries, will do the work much better, if only it is once understood that the work to be done is to establish and protect a government in each district occupied, a government intent on restoring order and prosperity.

WOMEN'S SECRETS.

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over thirty years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, and the honor paid him by the profession as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases. Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. Every woman's letter which contains her secret remains her secret, It is read in private, answered in private, and its contents guarded as a sacred confidence. That no third party should enter into this secret, all replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, with out any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

FIGHT WITH A GAME FISH.

First Tuna of the Season Landed After an Exciting Struggle.

One of the most remarkable experiences ever reported by fishermen took place near Catalina island recently. illustrating the power of the game fish of southern California, says the New York Sun. The annual tournament of the Tuna club of Los Angeles has created great interest. Ten or 12 members of the club have been trying night and day to land the first tuna of the season.

C. F. Holder, president of the Tuna club, and Mr. Townsend of Philadelphia, with Jim Gardner as boatman, started the other day for Long point, towed by the launch Minnehaha, in charge of Mr. Bassett of Pasadena. Off White's Landing four miles from Avalon, they struck a large school of tunas, the flying fish darting in every direction. Townsend had the first strike, but failed to hook. A second later Holder had a strike. In a moment the boat was rushing astern after the fish. The rod was the lightest ever used for tuna, and the line was the Tuna club regulation one of 21 strands.

After a hard struggle the fish was finally brought to gaff in 40 minutes Holder passed the tip of his reel forward, and Gardner hooked to the fish with the gaff and proceeded to haul it in. Just as it was landed the fish made a leap and capsized the boat, about a mile from shore south of the Long point. The launch was some distance away, having kept off to avoid the line when the fish was playing.

Holder's end of the boat sunk, and, seeing that it would not hold them all, he struck out for the launch, which he finally reached, although greatly exhausted. The sunken boat would not hold the two men and the fish, and it rolled over and over several times, the long wire leader of Holder's line having wound around Townsend's legs. Jim Gardner started for the launch to give Townsend the boat alone, which was now turned bottom up, allowing Townsend to climb on the keel and float.

All this time Jim Gardner held on to Holder's fish by the gaff. He swam from the sunken boat, still holding the fighting fish. Sometimes he was on the fish, sometimes the fish was on him. Three times the gamy fish made plunges, carrying Gardner under water. He finally reached the launch and never released his hold on the fish until Hold. er, Fassett and Mrs. Gardner hauled it in. Then Gardner was pulled over the side, and Townsend, who had insisted upon the fish being landed before he was rescued, was picked up.

This was the first leaping tuna of the season. The club offered a prize of a handsome rod to the angler who caught the first fish and a rod to the boatman who gaffed it. Gardner gets both prizes, Holder having given his hit to him.

LOVE'S LONG TEST.

Romance Recalled by the Death of Mrs. Stella Lanier.

The grave closed recently over Mrs. Stella Lanier at Indianapolis, the last actor in a love story that has thrilled Indiana for 55 years.

It was that long ago that Alexander C. Lanier, a rich youth, and Samuel Seering, a poor boy, courted Stella Godman, the belle of Madison. The rivalry was so close, so open and so friendly that the whole town watched its development. Stella favored first one, then the other and finally seemed to decide on Lanier. Exulting in his victory, the rich man paid a long visit to his brother, the present banker, in New York. But before he left Madison he said to Seering

"Sam, take care of my girl while am gone.' "I'll do it and marry her into the bargain," retorted Sam.

Sure enough, he did. Then Lanier settled down to a bachelor's life and wooed and won dollars until he was the richest man in Indiana. He was the best friend Seering and wife had. The husband went to the war, came back a colonel and an invalid and was nursed by his devoted wife—and Lanier. Colonel Seering became a confirmed invalid, and Lanier sent him and his wife to Hot Springs and visited them there.

One night the hotel caught fire, and Lanier rescued the invalid at the risk of his own life. So it went on for 45 years, and then Stella was a widow. Five months later she married Lanier. A more devoted old couple never lived than the Laniers, and Colonel Seering was the one both loved to talk about. The rich man gave all his wealth to make up to his aged sweetheart all she had lost by being the life partner of a poor invalid. Five years ago he died. A few days ago the widow died. Today she lies with her two lovers-one on either side. Never a breath of scandal marred the lives of the three, and Hoosier lovers speak of them with reverence as they stroll in the moonlight on the banks of the Wabash, far away. -New York Journal.

While I was in Paris I noticed that the solid tire was in great favor there. Of course there are many difficulties to be overcome before it can be used on all vehicles. What we want is a solid rubber tire which will combine flexibility with durability, and we will find it sooner or later.'

LOST HIS WAY.

A Chester Physician Will Have a Map of the County Drawn.

Several evenings ago a Chester physician went out in the country on a business trip. When he was ready to come home he drove his horse in the wrong direction, and when he discovered this fact he came to the conclusion that he had lost his way. He stopped at a farm house and asked a woman where he was and the right road to Chester. When he arrived home he decided to study a map of the county before he ventured far from home again.

FIGHT WITH A GAME FISH. First Tona of the Season Landed

After an Exciting Struggle. One of the most remarkable experiences ever reported by fishermen took place near Catalina island recently, illustrating the power of the game fish of southern California, says the New York Sun. The annual tournament of the Tuna club of Los Angeles has created great interest. Ten or 12 members of the club have been trying night and day to land the first tuna of the season.

C. F. Holder, president of the Tuna club, and Mr. Townsend of Philadelphia, with Jim Gardner as boatman, started the other day for Long point, towed by the launch Minnehaha, in charge of Mr. Bassett of Pasadena. Off White's Landing four miles from Avalon, they struck a large school of tunas, the flying fish darting in every direction. Townsend had the first strike, but failed to hook. A second later Holder had a strike. In a moment the boat was rushing astern after the fish. The rod was the lightest ever used for tuna, and the line was the Tuna club regulation one of 21 strands.

After a hard struggle the fish was finally brought to gaff in 40 minutes Holder passed the tip of his reel forward, and Gardner hooked to the fish with the gaff and proceeded to haul it in. Just as it was landed the fish made a leap and capsized the boat, about a mile from shore south of the Long point. The launch was some distance away, having kept off to avoid the line when the fish was playing.

Holder's end of the boat sunk, and, seeing that it would not hold them all, he struck out for the launch, which he finally reached, although greatly exhausted. The sunken boat would not hold the two men and the fish, and it rolled over and over several times, the long wire leader of Holder's line having wound around Townsend's legs. Jim Gardner started for the launch to give Townsend the boat alone, which was now turned bottom up, allowing Townsend to climb on the keel and float.

All this time Jim Gardner held on to Holder's fish by the gaff. He swam from the sunken boat, still holding the fighting fish. Sometimes he was on the fish, sometimes the fish was on him. Three times the gamy fish made plunges, carrying Gardner under water. He finally reached the launch and never released his hold on the fish until Holder, Fassett and Mrs. Gardner hauled it in. Then Gardner was pulled over the side, and Townsend, who had insisted upon the fish being landed before he was rescued, was picked up.

This was the first leaping tuna of the season. The club offered a prize of a handsome rod to the angler who caught the first fish and a rod to the boatman who gaffed it. Gardner gets both prizes. Holder having given his hit to him.

LOVE'S LONG TEST.

Romance Recalled by the Death of Mrs. Stella Lanier. The grave closed recently over Mrs.

Stella Lanier at Indianapolis, the last actor in a love story that has thrilled Indiana for 55 years.

It was that long ago that Alexander Seering, a poor boy, courted Stella Godman, the belle of Madison. The rivalry was so close, so open and so friendly that the whole town watched its development. Stella favored first one, then the other and finally seemed to decide on Lanier. Exulting in his victory, the rich man paid a long visit to his brother, the present banker, in New York. But before he left Madison he said to Seering

"Sam, take care of my girl while I am gone."

"I'll do it and marry her into the bargain," retorted Sam.

Sure enough, he did. Then Lanier settled down to a bachelor's life and wooed and won dollars until he was the richest man in Indiana. He was the best friend Seering and wife had. The husband went to the war, came back a colonel and an invalid and was nursed by his devoted wife-and Lanier. Colonel Seering became a confirmed invalid, and Lanier sent him and his wife to

Hot Springs and visited them there. One night the hotel caught fire, and Lanier rescued the invalid at the risk of his own life. So it went on for 45 years, and then Stella was a widow. Five months later she married Lanier. A more devoted old couple never lived than the Laniers, and Colonel Seering was the one both loved to talk about. The rich man gave all his wealth to make up to his aged sweetheart all she had lost by being the life partner of a poor invalid. Five years ago he died. A few days ago the widow died. Today she lies with her two lovers-one on either side. Never a breath of scandal marred the lives of the three, and Hoosier lovers speak of them with reverence as they stroll in the moonlight on the banks of the Wabash, far away. -New York Journal.

The Democratic journals throughout the country are grossly misrepresenting the condition of affairs at Manila and the adjacent country, and are deliberately doing this in order to make political capital, burying patriotism and love of country out of sight, and doing all they can to hamper and hinder the administration. We glory in the fact that Wm. McKinley is both soldier and statesman-that he has the nerve and courage essential to the exalted position he occupies; that he believes he is in the right in his conduct of affairs in the Philippines, and will nobly stand by the officers and men now on duty at Manila, and furnish the commanding officer with all the troops necessary for the subjugation of the insurgent forces. And we glory in the fact that the masses of our people are ready to stand by President McKinley and the administration, and furnish all troops that are called for. Private letters from the men who are in the trenches, and doing loyal duty for Old Glory, give the lie direct to the newspaper correspondents who have been forbidden to send sensational and lying reports to the papers they represent. # SWORD OF DREYFUS.

ftory of One Who Saw It Broken on the Champs de Mars.

Clyde W. Shropshire, United States vice consul in Paris at the time of Cap. tain Dreyfus' public degradation, describes the scene as follows in the New York World:

I was in Paris in 1895 and was one of the multitude on the Champs de Mars who witnessed the public degradation of Captain Dreyfus. I shall nev. er forget the scene. No one who did not see it can form any conception of the tense excitement of it all. The Dreyfus court martial had shaken all France to its very center, and this was its culmination.

Teeming thousands packed themselves around the outskirts of the great field and waited impatiently for the prisoner. There was some delay, and the crowd kept getting more impatient every minute. At last the measured tread of soldiers was heard keeping time to a solemn dirge, and Dreyfus was led out into the open space. The mob grew furious at sight of him. Only the restraint of the soldiers kept them from killing him then and there.

I craned my neck for a better view of him. I knew him from the thousands of photographs scattered all over Paris, I expected to see him hesitate and halt. But I was mistaken in my man. I had never seen him before, and whether he bore himself on all occasions as a soldier I know not. I only know that at this supreme moment he was every inch the soldier and there was something about the man, an indescribable something, that said over and over again. "He's innocent."

And this was confirmed when the superior officer gave orders to divest him of his rank as officer and soldier. Like a flash Dreyfus' hand flew to his cap in military salute, which in recognition only received a sneer. As his stripes were torn from him and his sword broken and trampled under feet the victim stood erect. with head far back, his eyes flashing and not a tremor or a quiver in his strong face. Not a word came from his lips except the clear, proud ring of "Vive l'armee, Vive la Francaise!"

After his degradation the condemned soldier walked from the field to the prison van that stood in waiting. As he did so an excited Frenchman broke between the lines of guards, and before he could be stopped lifted his hand and struck the prisoner a hard slap in the face. Treyfus only flashed his eyes upon the man and stiffened himself the more. He said nothing. Since then the world knows what Dreyfus must have suffered. But his liberation is at hand. Those of his accusers who have not fled or killed themselves are demoralized and a new trial means a speedy acquittal.

THE PHILIPPINES. The Democratic journals throughout the country are grossly misrepresenting the condition of affairs at Manila and the adjacent country, and are deliberately doing this in order to make political capital, burying patriotism and love of country out of sight, and doing all they can to hamper and hinder the administration. We glory in the fact that Wm. McKinley is both soldier and statesman-that he has the nerve and courage essential to the exalted position he occupies; that he believes he is in the right in his conduct of affairs in the Philippines, and will nobly stand by the officers and men now on duty at Manila, and furnish the commanding officer with all the troops necessary for the subjugation of the insurgent forces. And we glory in the fact that the masses of our people are ready to stand by President McKinley and the administration, and furnish all troops that are called for. Private letters from the men who are in the trenches, and doing loyal duty for Old Glory, give the lie direct to the newspaper correspondents who have been forbidden to send sensational and lying reports to the papers they represent. Clyde W. Shropshire, United States vice consul in Paris at the time of Captain Dreyfus' public degradation, describes the scene as follows in the New York World:

I was in Paris in 1895 and was one of the multitude on the Champs de Mars who witnessed the public degradation of Captain Dreyfus. I shall nev. er forget the scene. No one who did not see it can form any conception of the tense excitement of it all. The Dreyfus court martial had shaken all France to its very center, and this was its culmination.

Teeming thousands packed themselves around the outskirts of the great field and waited impatiently for the prisoner. There was some delay, and the crowd kept getting more impatient every minute. At last the measured tread of soldiers was heard keeping time to a solemn dirge, and Dreyfus was led out into the open space. The mob grew furious at sight of him. Only the restraint of the soldiers kept them from killing him then and there.

I craned my neck for a better view of him. I knew him from the thousands of photographs scattered all over Paris. I expected to see him hesitate and halt. But I was mistaken in my man. I had never seen him before, and whether he bore himself on all occasions as a soldier I know not. All day yesterday an Italian grind organ man accompanied by a little girl playing a tambourine tortured the people of the city with some horrible music.

Humane Agent Lloyd decided that there should be a hot time in the city and he started out last evening to find the grind organ man. He located him in Broadway and placed him under arrest. The little girl set up a howl that far eclipsed the music and at once made tracks for Wellsville.

Officer Lloyd took the man and his instrument of torture to the office of Squire Hill, where a charge of using and exhibiting a child under 12 years of age, by playing a musical instrument called a tambourine, was placed against him. He gave his name as Scala Gregoria and claimed he had no money. All day yesterday an Italian grind organ man accompanied by a little girl playing a tambourine tortured the people of the city with some horrible music.

Humane Agent Lloyd decided that there should be a hot time in the city and he started out last evening to find the grind organ man. He located him in Broadway and placed him under arrest. The little girl set up a howl that far eclipsed the music and at once made tracks for Wellsville.

Officer Lloyd took the man and his instrument of torture to the office of Squire Hill, where a charge of using and exhibiting a child under 12 years of age, by playing a musical instrument called a tambourine, was placed against him. He gave his name as Scala Gregoria and claimed he had no money. The organ was left with the justice for seenrity, but Scala prevented all possibility of the squire giving a free concert as he took the crank with him.

Important Exhibit to Be Made at Paris Exposition.

PLANS OF SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE.

Conditions Prevailing In Workshops and Business Houses Are to Be Shown - Progress Achieved American Women and Results of the Club Movement to Be Set Forth.

The exhibit which the League For Social Service is busily collecting for presentation at the Paris exposition will attempt what has never before been offered-a view of the United States along the line of its sociological development.

As already announced, the league has been appointed by the United States commission special agent in the department of social economy. Its individual work will be the institutions and movements for improving social and industrial conditions, and it will undertake to show both existing conditions and what is being done to improve them.

The method of gathering data and putting it into shape for illustration is novel as it is interesting. The exhibit will be made by means of lantern slides, four to be shown at a time, with a fifth to interpret them in French and English. The matter will include gleanings from Maine to California.

Dr. W. H. Tolman, the secretary, recently returned from a trip to the west, gave a reporter for the New York World a graphic idea of the league's plans in this connection. He took as example a drop forge factory in Brook-

"Work in such an establishment," he explained, "is one of the severest trials of physical endurance. The firm has taken this into practical consideration. Each fire has a separate head and a separate chimney to carry off the heat, while a shaft above brings the cold air down on the workman.

"A 20 minutes' rest once a day gives a man an opportunity to enjoy the spray baths placed in the building by the firm for their convenience. Another inducement to cleanliness and therefore comfort is the washroom, with hot water, where the men may wash their soiled shirts, leaving them in the steam drying room overnight. All these things prolong the lives of the workmen, and the firm has reaped the commercial reward of being able to keep the factory running when other firms are obliged to shut down."

This odd bit of factory progress will make one series of slides. Another will present the gymnasium a large insurance house in the west has built for its employees.

A third shows the great lunchroom of a mammoth workshop, with the bill of fare as one picture, with vegetable soup and coffee free, and such items as milk at 2 cents, strawberries 4 cents,

Housing, homekeeping, hygienic, educational, religious and municipal progress will all come within the scope of the exhibit.

The lantern will be worked automatically, charged with 100 slides at a time and changed at intervals of two, three or five minutes, as desired. With each shift the lecturer will put the meaning of the pictures into words.

In all this panorama of progress and its possibilities place will be found for the organized effort of women. For the first time the women's club movement will have opportunity to exploit its achievements for the betterment of the sex. The various philanthropiesand they are as numerous as the clubs themselves-will present a study of the new woman from a wholly novel view-

The League For Social Service is barely 10 months old, but the motive power behind it has been growing for so many years that it may be said, paradoxically, to have existed long before it was born. It is termed a clearing house in social economy and is in touch with sociological work the country over. President Dr. Josiah Strong and Secretary Dr. W. H. Tolman have long been prominently in the public eye in economic ventures. It boasts four bishops on its advisory board-Bishop Potter, Bishop Huntington of central New York, Bishop Hurst of the Methodist church and Bishop Vincent, also of that denomination. Its membership is a large one, and its treasurer is

Spencer Trask. Firms, clubs and institutions of whatever sort are invited to communicate with the league as to possible sociological exhibits. The headquarters is at 105 East Twenty-second street, New York

General Galliffet and William I.

The Germans ever had the highest admiration and respect for Galliffet, the new French minister for war, and when the cavalry hero attended the German maneuvers one autumn in the eighties by special invitation of the old emperor, he was treated with the most exquisite courtesy and consideration. His majesty placed him on his right hand at table and felt inclined to repeat, he remarked later, what Frederick the Great once said to the Austrian Marshal Daun on meeting him after the seven years' war. The marshal was for taking his place at table opposite the king, but Frederick exclaimed: "No. that will never do. Come and sit beside me. I know only too well what it is to have you on the other side."-London Chronicle.

"WHAT WOULD JESUS DO?"

National Political Party Organized With Thiy Motto and Platform.

The United Christian party of America, a national political organization, was conceived at Des Moines the other day. It will nominate a full national ticket and make the presidential campaign of 1900 on a platform of four words, "What would Jesus do?"

"We can't go far wrong if we follow that motto," said Chairman W. C. Pidgeon of Richland recently. But a somewhat more elaborate platform added to by the various popular opporwas adopted as regards details. Direct legislation, by initiative and referendum, with the imperative mandate, is the method by which the party hopes to reform the government. The platform holds that governments dethrough Christ and by the consent of the governed. A union of all Christians is asked, regardless of nationality, color, creed, sect or previous politics, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

A telegram was received by the convention from the National Reform party in session at Pittsburg asking the United Christian party to unite forces with it. Chairman Pidgeon was instructed to carry on negotiations looking to such an amalgamation. As a committee to organize the party in other states were appointed W. R. Benkert of Davenport, C. Z. Lindley of Hedrick and J. F. Jensen of Dorchester, Wis. A national convention is to be called to meet in Chicago or Indianapolis this fall. The prospects now are that the convention will meet with that of the National Reform party in Chicago on Dec. 28.

While he was sitting at the window a thunder shower came up and with it were two sharp flashes of lightning.

With one of the tremendous crashes Mr. Forbes felt a sharp pricking of his flesh and tingling in his bones, and with a jerk his left arm shot violently forward from its cramped position The shock was over in a flash, and Mr. Forbes felt his left arm bristle with vitality and tingle with vigor. To his delight he found he could use the arm as well as ever.

She Didn't Like the Job.

"I used to work for a collection agency in one of the northern cities,' said a lady perfumery drummer, "and my experience was tolerably exciting. My duty was to sit at a roll top desk in the office and unpersonate the proprietor. Light work, did you say? Just you wait. All day long men would come in red eyed to lick the boss. 'Where's the fellow that sends out these blackmailing letters?' was the usual salutation. Then I would smile sweetly and say: 'I'm the proprietress. What can I do for you?' At that the visitor would look dazed, mutter things under his breath and walk off.

"Well, things went along all right for nearly a month. Then one day a little, wiry chap walked in carrying a black cane. 'Where's the boss?' he said. I gave the usual fairy story. 'Don't believe a word of it.' he replied, 'still I can't beat a woman. He thought awhile, and something in his eye made me feel creepy 'I'll have to take it out on the fixtures, he said finally, and, npon my word, he broke every blessed thing in the shop. He did it quickly and systematically, and you never saw such an awful ruin! As a wind up he broke the chandelier and bade me a polite good day When the proprietor came in, he had a fit. It was after that I went into the perfumery business. The work is harder, but it is much less trying on one's nerves."- New Orleans Times-Democrat

Important Exhibit to Be Made at Paris Exposition.

PLANS OF SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE.

Conditions Prevailing In Workshops and Business Houses Are to Be Shown - Progress Achieved by American Women and Results of the Club Movement to Be Set Forth.

The exhibit which the League For Social Service is busily collecting for presentation at the Paris exposition will attempt what has never before been offered-a view of the United States along the line of its sociological development.

As already announced, the league has been appointed by the United States commission special agent in the department of social economy. Its individual work will be the institutions and movements for improving social and industrial conditions, and it will undertake to show both existing conditions and what is being done to improve them.

The method of gathering data and putting it into shape for illustration is novel as it is interesting. The exhibit will be made by means of lantern slides, four to be shown at a time, with a fifth to interpret them in French and English. The matter will include gleanings from Maine to California.

Dr. W. H. Tolman, the secretary, recently returned from a trip to the west, gave a reporter for the New York World a graphic idea of the league's plans in this connection. He took as example a drop forge factory in Brook-

"Work in such an establishment," he explained, "is one of the severest trials of physical endurance. The firm has taken this into practical consideration. Each fire has a separate head and a separate chimney to carry off the heat, while a shaft above brings the cold air down on the workman.

"A 20 minutes' rest once a day gives a man an opportunity to enjoy the spray baths placed in the building by the firm for their convenience. Another inducement to cleanliness and therefore comfort is the washroom, with hot water, where the men may wash their soiled shirts, leaving them in the steam drying room overnight. All these things prolong the lives of the workmen, and the firm has reaped the commercial reward of being able to keep the factory running when other firms are obliged to shut down."

This odd bit of factory progress will make one series of slides. Another will present the gymnasium a large insurance house in the west has built for its employees.

A third shows the great lunchroom of a mammoth workshop, with the bill of fare as one picture, with vegetable soup and coffee free, and such items as milk at 2 cents, strawberries 4 cents,

Housing, homekeeping, hygienic, educational, religious and municipal progress will all come within the scope of the exhibit.

The lantern will be worked automatically, charged with 100 slides at a time and changed at intervals of two, three or five minutes, as desired. With each shift the lecturer will put the meaning of the pictures into words.

In all this panorama of progress and its possibilities place will be found for the organized effort of women. For the first time the women's club movement will have opportunity to exploit its achievements for the betterment of the sex. The various philanthropiesand they are as numerous as the clubs themselves-will present a study of the new woman from a wholly novel viewpoint.

The League For Social Service is barely 10 months old, but the motive power behind it has been growing for so many years that it may be said, paradoxically, to have existed long before it was born. It is termed a clearing house in social economy and is in touch with sociological work the country over. President Dr. Josiah Strong and Secretary Dr. W. H. Tolman have long been prominently in the public eye in economic ventures. It boasts four bishops on its advisory board-Bishop Potter, Bishop Huntington of central New York, Bishop Hurst of the Methodist church and Bishop Vincent, also of that denomination. Its membership is a large one, and its treasurer is Spencer Trask.

Firms, clubs and institutions of whatever sort are invited to communicate with the league as to possible sociological exhibits. The headquarters is at 105 East Twenty-second street, New York.

General Galliffet and William I.

The Germans ever had the highest admiration and respect for Galliffet, the new French minister for war, and when the cavalry hero attended the German maneuvers one autumn in the eighties by special invitation of the old emperor, he was treated with the most exquisite courtesy and consideration. His majesty placed him on his right hand at table and felt inclined to repeat, he remarked later, what Frederick the Great once said to the Austrian Marshal Daun on meeting him after the seven years' war. The marshal was for taking his place at table opposite the king, but Frederick exclaimed: "No, that will never do. Come and sit beside me. I know only too well what it is to have you on the other side."-London Chronicle.

"WHAT WOULD JESUS DO?"

National Political Party Organized With Thir Motto and Platform.

The United Christian party of America, a national political organization, was conceived at Des Moines the other day. It will nominate a full national ticket and make the presidential campaign of 1900 on a platform of four words, "What would Jesus do?"

"We can't go far wrong if we follow that motto," said Chairman W. C. Pidgeon of Richland recently. But a somewhat more elaborate platform added to by the various popular opporwas adopted as regards details. Direct legislation, by initiative and referendum, with the imperative mandate, is the method by which the party hopes to reform the government. The platform holds that governments derive their just powers from God lines. The second excursion this year through Christ and by the consent of the governed. A union of all Christians is asked, regardless of nationality, color, creed, sect or previous politics, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

A telegram was received by the convention from the National Reform party in session at Pittsburg asking the United Christian party to unite forces with it. Chairman Pidgeon was instructed to carry on negotiations looking to such an amalgamation. As a committee to organize the party in other states were appointed W. R. Benkert of Davenport, C. Z. Lindley of Hedrick and J. F. Jensen of Dorchester, Wis. A national convention is to be called to meet in Chicago or Indianapolis this fall. The prospects now are that the convention will meet with that of the National Reform party in Chicago on Dec. 28.

LIGHTNING CURED HIS ARM

A Bolt Restored Vigor to a Limb Useless For Thirteen Years.

A remarkable freak of lightning oc curred at East Brookfield, Mass., recently, when a sudden shock restored to its old time vigor the left arm of Eli Forbes, which had been useless for 13 years on account of rheumatism, says the New York Sun. While he was sitting at the window a thunder shower came up and with it were two sharp flashes of lightning.

With one of the tremendous crashes Mr. Forbes felt a sharp pricking of his flesh and tingling in his bones, and with a jerk his left arm shot violently forward from its cramped position The shock was over in a flash, and Mr. Forbes felt his left arm bristle with vitality and tingle with vigor. To his delight he found he could use the arm as well as ever.

A Sinner's Shroud.

Man is much like a silkworm. He is a spinner and weaver by nature. A robe of righteousness is wrought out for him, but he will not have it; he will spin for himself, and like the silkworm, he spins and spins, and he only spins himself a shroud. All the righteousness that a sinnner can make will only be a shroud in which to wrap up his own soul. - Spurgeon.

Today and Tomorrow.

One who does right today need not be troubled about doing right tomorrow. Every act done is a seed that will bear fruit, each after its kind. The man who is generous today will find it easier to be generous tomorrow. An act repeated often enough becomes a habit, and the fruit of habit is character. - Sunday School Times.

"I used to work for a collection agency in one of the northern cities," said a lady perfumery drummer, "and my experience was tolerably exciting. My duty was to sit at a roll top desk in the office and unpersonate the proprietor. Light work, did you say? Just you wait. All day long men would come in red eyed to lick the boss. 'Where's the fellow that sends out these blackmailing letters?' was the usual salutation. Then I would smile sweetly and say: 'I'm the proprietress. What can I do for you?' At that the visitor would look dazed, mutter things under his breath and walk off.

"Well, things went along all right for nearly a month. Then one day a little, wiry chap walked in carrying a black cane. 'Where's the boss?' he said. I gave the usual fairy story. 'Don't believe a word of it.' he replied, 'still I can't beat a woman. He thought awhile, and something in his eye made me feel creepy 'I'll have to take it out on the fixtures, he said finally, and, upon my word, he broke every blessed thing in the shop. He did it quickly and systematically, and you never saw such an awful ruin! As a wind up he broke the chandelier and bade me a polite good day When the proprietor came in, he had a fit. It was after that I went into the perfumery business. The work is harder, but it is much less trying on one's nerves."- New Orleans Times-Democrat

National Political Party Organized With Thiy Motto and Platform.

The United Christian party of America, a national political organization, was conceived at Des Moines the other day. It will nominate a full national ticket and make the presidential campaign of 1900 on a platform of four words, "What would Jesus do?"

"We can't go far wrong if we follow that motto," said Chairman W. C. Pidgeon of Richland recently. But a was adopted as regards details. Direct legislation, by initiative and referendum, with the imperative mandate. is the method by which the party hopes to reform the government. The platform holds that governments derive their just powers from God through Christ and by the consent of the governed. A union of all Christians is asked, regardless of nationality, color, creed, sect or previous poli tics, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

A telegram was received by the convention from the National Reform party in session at Pittsburg asking the United Christian party to unite forces with it. Chairman Pidgeon was instructed to carry on negotiations looking to such an amalgamation. As a committee to organize the party in other states were appointed W. R. Benkert of Davenport, C. Z. Lindley of Hedrick and J. F. Jensen of Dorchester, Wis. A national convention is to be called to meet in Chicago or Indianapolis this fall. The prospects now are that the convention will meet with that of the National Reform party in Chicago on Dec. 28.

LIGHTNING CURED HIS ARM A Bolt Restored Vigor to a Limb Use less For Thirteen Years.

A remarkable freak of lightning occurred at East Brookfield, Mass., recently, when a sudden shock restored to its old time vigor the left arm of Eli Forbes, which had been useless for 13 years on account of rheumatism, says the New York Sun. While he was sitting at the window a thunder shower came up and with it were two sharp flashes of lightning.

With one of the tremendous crashes Mr. Forbes felt a sharp pricking of his flesh and tingling in his bones, and with a jerk his left arm shot violently forward from its cramped position The shock was over in a flash, and Mr. Forbes felt his left arm bristle with vitality and tingle with vigor. To his as well as ever.

Man is much like a silkworm. He is a spinner and weaver by nature. A robe of righteousness is wrought out for him, but he will not have it; he will spin for himself, and like the silkworm, he spins and spins, and he only spins himself a shroud. All the righteousness that a sinnner can make will only be a shroud in which to wrap up his own soul. - Spurgeon.

One who does right today need not be troubled about doing right tomorrow. Every act done is a seed that will bear fruit, each after its kind. The delights of vacation time are somewhat more elaborate platform added to by the various popular opportunities offered people who desire a change of surroundings for a week or two. Among the most fascinating and attractive summer trips is the $10 excursion to Atlantic City via Pennsylvania lines. The second excursion this year will go from East Liverpool Thursday, July 20. Excursionists who do not desire to go to Atlantic City have the choice of nine other fashionable and quiet seaside cities. Ask Adam Hill, ticket agent, East Liverpool, about hotels, descriptive material or any other question regarding your proposed trip. You ought to go.

She Didn't Like the Job.

"I used to work for a collection agency in one of the northern cities,' said a lady perfumery drummer, "and my experience was tolerably exciting. My duty was to sit at a roll top desk in the office and unpersonate the proprietor. Light work, did you say? Just you wait. All day long men would come in red eyed to lick the boss. 'Where's the fellow that sends out these blackmailing letters?' was the usual salutation. Then I would smile sweetly and say: 'I'm the proprietress. What can I do for you?' At that the visitor would look dazed, mutter things under his breath and walk off.

"Well, things went along all right for nearly a month. Then one day a little, wiry chap walked in carrying a black cane. 'Where's the boss?' he said. I gave the usual fairy story. 'Don't believe a word of it,' he replied, 'still I can't beat a woman. He thought awhile, and something in his eye made me feel creepy 'I'll have to take it out on the fixtures, he said finally, and, upon my word, he broke every blessed thing in the shop He did it quickly and systematically, and you never saw such an awful ruin! As a wind up he broke the chandelier and bade me a polite good day When the proprietor came in, he had a fit. It was after that I went into the perfumery business. The work is harder, but it is much less trying on one's nerves."- New Orleans Times-Democrat

Problems In Philippines Discussed by the General.

WHAT HE THINKS OF AGUINALDO.

He Declares the Tagals of Luzon Are Alone Capable of Self Government. Says the Army Has a Hard Task to Whip Them-The Tricky Filipinos. Number of Men Needed by Otis.

Brigadier General Charles King, writing to the editor of the New York World, says:

In answer to your request, let me say that my reference to the Filipinos as capable of self government did not include the natives of Sulu, Mindanao and outlying islands. The Tagals of Luzon, however, are a people of superior mold as compared with the mountaineers and with the natives of other islands, who, having resisted Spanish invasion, had not the education given the Tagals by the priests of the church of Rome.

Cruel and tyrannical as were the Spaniards, and robbers and oppressors as were the friars of the various religious orders, it must be admitted that the Tagals owe their teaching in great measure to the priesthood, for churches, convents and schools abound everywhere in and around Manila and far to the north and south of that thronging city. One of the best works on the Philippines is that of Ramon Reyes Lala, now a resident of New York city, and from him and from Padre Algue of the great Jesuit college in Ermita and Senor Arellano. now chief justice of Luzon, by appointment of General Otis, I gathered the information that nine-tenths of the adult Tagals could read and write.

I repeat that the Filipinos in and near Manila are industrious, frugal, temperate and clean. They do run to holidays, on which they will not work, and many shops and offices have to close in consequence. Out of the 365 days in the year the Filipinos have 153 holidays, and if you subscribe for a Manila daily with the idea of getting 365 papers in the 12 months you will fall short by at least 160.

I repeat that they are most skillful artisans in many a trade and industry, that some of their sculpture and paintings will compare favorably with that of Europe and America, and as instrumental musicians they are wonderful. It must be owned that they produce also expert sneak thieves and accomplished liars, but in the latter point they have had three centuries of instruction from Spain.

Not only are there numerous and good schools for the mass of the population, all of whom appear to be devout Catholics, but the sons and daughters of the wealthier natives are sent to France and England for their education. The papers and records left behind in the insurgent flight from Santa Ana, San Pedro Macati and Guadalupe after their mad and wanton attack of Feb. 5 show that they had a very complete system of government. It may be argued that Aguinaldo's methods of disposing of rival politicians and beaten generals is summary in the last degree, as witness the assassination of gallant Luna, who twice most admirably formed and led his men to the attack of the little force MacArthur had thrown across the Rio Grande de Pampangas, but who failed to induce his Filipinos to charge, or the case of General Ricarti, whose brigade was opposed to mine at Santa Ana and left 160 dead upon the field, dozens drowned in the Pasig, and his Krupp guns, all his supplies and reserve ammunition in our hands. From prisoners and spies we heard he was sent to Malolos in arrest, tried by drumhead court martial and shot, but that may only be a Filipino lie. So, too, the case of Colonel Arguelles, the gifted gentleman Aguinaldo sent in hopes of wheedling General Otis into a three weeks' armistice on a Filipino promise to pay in peace propositions. Our corps commander has a soft heart, but a hard head. Arguelles went back with the mournful word that, like Grant at Donelson, Otis would listen to nothing but unconditional surrender, and the last we heard of Arguelles was that he was given 12 years in jail for his failure.

It may be argued that the Filipino is as unstable as a Frenchman and that he will assassinate his president if he does not like him. But mercurial France has maintained her republic over a quarter of a century with the loss of no more presidents by the hand has splendid division and brigade lead the "drag," "click" and "master of the assassin, in point of fact, than ers, and when the rainy season closes our own.

It has been claimed by some papers that I favor Aguinaldo. I do not. I look upon him as a scheming politician and the tool of stronger minds, like that of Mabini, his chief adviser. It is held by some imperialists of the press that my assertion as to the capacity of the Tagals was unjustifiable, but I do not recall any adverse criticism on their part when Admiral George Dewey wrote precisely the same thing a year ago; and, though I did not know this when I wrote last month, I am rejoiced to have such distinguished support.

I am astonished, nowever, to be informed that certain antiadministrarion papers claim that my opinion of the Tagal means that I think the war should end, our troops be withdrawn and the islanders left to themselves That inference is absolutely unjustifiable. Our flag must never be lowered in face of an armed foe, and if it our friendship with treachery and armed attack must be utterly subdued.

But I have said, and I repeat, that it is not an easy thing to whip those well San Fernando by the finest field works science could devise. If driven from the plains they can retire to the mountains or the dense bamboo thickets, crooked trails, can they be approached. much hardship and peril. Its losses have been severe, but those inflicted on the enemy have been indefinitely greater. That it stood the climate and the hardships so well was due to the fact that Major General Otis and his disupply system was excellent, our surgeons, ambulance service and hospitals equally good, and there was a total absence of complaint or cause for it.

That it encountered peril with such discipline and dauntless courage was due to the fact that the army was made up, with a little leaven of regulars, mainly of far western volunteers accustomed to rough it hunting, fishing, ranching and prospecting in the mountains and most of the regiments had several months of steady drill and reaseless outpost duty and were well acclimated, too, before the clash came. That no really decisive result has jet been obtained is due to the fact that, though hundreds of Filipinos have been killed, there are thousands to take their places. Every ablebodied Tagal must serve when called on or suffer the consequences. The homes of a community of would be neutrals in the rear of Ovenshine's brigade went up in smoke and flame in a single night, fired by insurgent sympathizers in Manila. When a man drops on their fighting line, his rifle and ammunition are handed to another in the unarmed reserve.

Their wounded they leave to us for nursing, having found that they are cared for, even in large numbers, as tenderly as our own. This shows their butcher them. If they would stand up the station to see if he could get more sagacity. They burden us, better their and fight, their army would make a wounded and free themselves. The battle of Feb. 5 was a fair and square fight, in which the insurgents, NOVEL DEVICES PATENTED. if anything, were better armed than we, for except the Fourteenth regulars and the little battalion of the Third artillery our whole force had only the Springfield rifles, while the enemy had the Mausers, of much longer range. There was not a bowman or spearman within range of Manila, and even a heavy sum offered to any man who public. could find a spear or bow failed to produce one. The army has hard knocks enough without this fire in the rear, and despite the fact that the Filipinos have used their churches as arsenals, their altars as magazines, their convents as forts; despite the fact that they have lurked in ambush in their protected homes, shot down our wounded, fired on the hospitals and used the leaves the vegetables on top of the sacred flag of truce as did the Modocs who murdered Canby and the peace commissioners in 1873, they have been mercifully dealt with throughout. Indeed, there is much in the Philippine campaign to remind us of the interminable Indian affairs we of the cavalry and infantry of the army were engaged in for years after the civil war.

To conclude, then, it must be remembered that these people have had fine schooling in partisan warfare; that their men number thousands more than in view and within which a setting ours; that they can scatter when they wish and assemble where they will, and that we cannot with the force now at General Otis' disposal begin to hold the towns or lines from which we drive them, and that men, guns and horses in abundance should be sent to administer the crushing blows that must be given. In Lawton and MacArthur, in uninterrupted run of the line. This is Wheaton and Funston, General Otis accomplished by throwing out of gear and roads and fields become once more passable let them be swept by 50,000 effective soldiers until the last armed foe has vanished. Then, and not till then, "let us have peace."

The palms are as natural in appearance as if they had been grown instead of manufactured and probably not one person in a dozen among the restaurant's patrons is aware of their artificial character.

An afternoon or two ago an elderly couple, evidently from the rural districts, came into the restaurant and took a seat. They gave their order and then began to look around.

"That's a handsome palm, Henry!" exclaimed the woman, pointing to the largest specimen. "I wonder if it grew that big in here?"

"Of course it didn't," replied the man, with a look of superior wisdom. "It was raised down in Floridy. That's where they all grow, and then they are shipped up here.

Just then one of the restaurant's attaches approached the palm with a dampeloth in his hand. Taking hold of one of the leaves he yanked it from the stem and began to rub it vigorously with the cloth. Problems In Philippines Discussed by the General.

WHAT HE THINKS OF AGUINALDO.

He Declares the Tagals of Luzon Are Alone Capable of Self Government. says the Army Has a Hard Task to Whip Them-The Tricky Filipinos. Number of Men Needed by Otis.

Brigadier General Charles King, writing to the editor of the New York World, says:

In answer to your request, let me say that my reference to the Filipinos as capable of self government did not include the natives of Sulu, Mindanao and outlying islands. The Tagals of Luzon, however, are a people of superior mold as compared with the mountaineers and with the natives of other islands, who, having resisted Spanish invasion, had not the education given the Tagals by the priests of the church of Rome.

Cruel and tyrannical as were the Spaniards, and robbers and oppressors as were the friars of the various religious orders, it must be admitted that the Tagals owe their teaching in great measure to the priesthood, for churches, convents and schools abound everywhere in and around Manila and far to the north and south of that thronging city. One of the best works on the Philippines is that of Ramon Reves Lala, now a resident of New York city, and from him and from Padre Algue of the great Jesuit college in Ermita and Senor Arellano. now chief justice of Luzon, by appointment of General Otis, I gathered the information that nine-tenths of the adult Tagals could read and write.

I repeat that the Filipinos in and near Manila are industrious, frugal, temperate and clean. They do run to holidays, on which they will not work, and many shops and offices have to close in consequence. Out of the 365 days in the year the Filipinos have 153 holidays, and if you subscribe for a Manila daily with the idea of getting 365 papers in the 12 months you will fall short by at least 160.

I repeat that they are most skillful artisans in many a trade and industry, that some of their sculpture and paintings will compare favorably with that of Europe and America, and as instrumental musicians they are wonderful. It must be owned that they produce also expert sneak thieves and accomplished liars, but in the latter point they have had three centuries of instruction from Spain.

Not only are there numerous and good schools for the mass of the population, all of whom appear to be devout Catholics, but the sons and daughters of the wealthier natives are sent to France and England for their education. The papers and records left behind in the insurgent flight from Santa Ana, San Pedro Macati and Guadalupe after their mad and wanton attack of Feb. 5 show that they had a very complete system of government. It may be argued that Aguinaldo's methods of disposing of rival politicians and beaten generals is summary in the last degree, as witness the assassination of gallant Luna, who twice most admirably formed and led his men to the attack of the little force Grande de Pampangas, but who failed to induce his Filipinos to charge, or the case of General Ricarti, whose brigade was opposed to mine at Santa Ana and left 160 dead upon the field, dozens drowned in the Pasig, and his Krupp guns, all his supplies and reserve ammunition in our hands. From prisoners and spies we heard he was sent to Malolos in arrest, tried by drumhead court martial and shot, but that may only be a Filipino lie. So, too, the case of Colonel Arguelles, the gifted gentleman Aguinaldo sent in hopes of wheedling General Otis into a three weeks' armistice on a Filipino promise to pay in peace propositions. Our corps commander has a soft heart, but a hard head. Arguelles went back with the mournful word that, like Grant at Donelson, Otis would listen to nothing but unconditional surrender, and the last we heard of Arguelles was that he was given 12 years in jail for his failure.

It may be argued that the Filipino is as unstable as a Frenchman and that he will assassinate his president if he does not like him. But mercurial France has maintained her republic over a quarter of a century with the loss of no more presidents by the hand of the assassin, in point of fact, than our own.

that I favor Aguinaldo. I do not. I and the tool of stronger minds, like then, "let us have peace." that of Mabini, his chief adviser. It is held by some imperialists of the press that my assertion as to the capacity of the Tagals was unjustifiable, but I do not recall any adverse criticism on wrote precisely the same thing a year when I wrote last month, I am rejoiced to have such distinguished support.

I am astonished, nowever, to be informed that certain antiadministrarion papers claim that my opinion of the Tagal means that I think the war should end, our troops be withdrawn and the islanders left to themselves. That inference is absolutely unjustifiable. Our flag must never be lowered in face of an armed foe, and if it costs thousands of men and millions of money the insurgents who rewarded our friendship with treachery and armed attack must be utterly subdued.

But I have said, and I repeat, that it is not an easy thing to whip those well armed Tagals, protected as they were every mile of the way from Manila to San Fernando by the finest field works science could devise. If driven from the plains they can retire to the mountains or the dense bamboo thickets, through which only in single file along crooked trails, can they be approached. Our little army in the Philippines has had to encounter great difficulties and much hardship and peril. Its losses have been severe, but those inflicted on the enemy have been indefinitely greater. That it stood the climate and the hardships so well was due to the fact that Major General Otis and his division commanders were tireless in their efforts to see that the men were geons, ambulance service and hospitals equally good, and there was a total absence of complaint or cause for it.

That it encountered peril with such discipline and dauntless courage was due to the fact that the army was made up, with a little leaven of regulars, mainly of far western volunteers accustomed to rough it hunting, fishing, ranching and prospecting in the mountains and most of the regiments had several months of steady drill and reaseless outpost duty and were well acclimated, too, before the clash came.

That no really decisive result has jet been obtained is due to the fact that, though hundreds of Filipinos have been killed, there are thousands to take their places. Every ablebodied Tagal must serve when called on or suffer the consequences. The homes of a community of would be neutrals in the rear of Ovenshine's brigade went up in smoke and flame in a single night, fired by insurgent sympathizers in Manila. When a man drops on their fighting line, his rifle and ammunition are handed to another in the unarmed reserve.

Their wounded they leave to us for nursing, having found that they are cared for, even in large numbers, as tenderly as our own. This shows their sagacity. They burden us, better their wounded and free themselves. Time and again I have seen our men giving pline and pluck of the American troops. their wounded drink or food, and no The only way to suppress them is to hurt or hardship at the front was so hard to bear as the statements published in certain prominent journals of Gotham and Massachusetts to the effect that we slaughtered helpless natives and mercilessly shot down unfortunates armed only with bow or spear. That whole story about bowmen and spearmen, which led to such hysterical editorials, was absolutely false.

The battle of Feb. 5 was a fair and square fight, in which the insurgents, NOVEL DEVICES PATENTED. if anything, were better armed than we, for except the Fourteenth regulars and the little battalion of the Third artillery our whole force had only the Springfield rifles, while the enemy had every Tuesday by the commissioner of the Mausers, of much longer range. There was not a bowman or spearman within range of Manila, and even a heavy sum offered to any man who could find a spear or bow failed to pro-MacArthur had thrown across the Rio duce one. The army has hard knocks enough without this fire in the rear, and despite the fact that the Filipinos have used their churches as arsenals, their altars as magazines, their convents as forts; despite the fact that they have lurked in ambush in their protected homes, shot down our wounded, fired on the hospitals and used the sacred flag of truce as did the Modocs who murdered Canby and the peace commissioners in 1873, they have been mercifully dealt with throughout. Indeed, there is much in the Philippine campaign to remind us of the interminable Indian affairs we of the cavalry and infantry of the army were engaged in for years after the civil war.

To conclude, then, it must be remembered that these people have had fine schooling in partisan warfare; that their men number thousands more than ours; that they can scatter when they wish and assemble where they will, and that we cannot with the force now at General Otis' disposal begin to hold the towns or lines from which we drive them, and that men, guns and horses in abundance should be sent to administer the crushing blows that must be given. In Lawton and MacArthur, in Wheaton and Funston, General Otis has splendid division and brigade leaders, and when the rainy season closes and roads and fields become once more It has been claimed by some papers passable let them be swept by 50,000 effective soldiers until the last armed look upon him as a scheming politician foe has vanished. Then, and not till

BACK FROM THE PHILIPPINES

A Missouri Soldier Talks Interestingly of the War.

William E. Jackson returned to Paris, Mo., recently from the Philippine Islands, where he has been serving as a private in the Tennessee regiment. He took part in the first battles with the Filipinos, but contracted rheumatism from exposure and was sent home. To the St. Louis Globe-Democrat correspondent he said:

"The rainy season is now on in the islands, and campaigning will be next to impossible for some time to come. I believe the present force, 30,000 men, would be sufficient to subdue the insurgents if the entire force could be put into the field, but with the large number needed to garrison Manila and other points and the large numbers in the hospitals from sickness and wounds, General Otis has a very small force left to prosecute the war. I believe he ought to have 50,000 men under his command. At the outbreak of hostilities Manila was practically free of Filipinos of fighting age. They watch their chances and waylay any stragglers or small squads that may fall into their hands and butcher them. If they would stand up and fight, their army would make a miserable showing against the disciput enough soldiers in the field to drive them into a corner, where they would be forced to fight or surrender.

It is held by some imperialists of the press that my assertion as to the capacity of the Tagals was unjustifiable, but I do not recall any adverse criticism on their part when Admiral George Dewey wrote precisely the same thing a year ago; and, though I did not know this when I wrote last month, I am rejoiced to have such distinguished support.

I am astonished, nowever, to be informed that certain antiadministrarion papers claim that my opinion of the Tagal means that I think the war should end, our troops be withdrawn and the islanders left to themselves. That inference is absolutely unjustifiable. Our flag must never be lowered in face of an armed foe, and if it our friendship with treachery and armed attack must be utterly subdued.

But I have said, and I repeat, that it is not an easy thing to whip those well every mile of the way from Manila to San Fernando by the finest field works science could devise. If driven from the plains they can retire to the mountains or the dense bamboo thickets. through which only in single file along crooked trails, can they be approached. Our little army in the Philippines has had to encounter great difficulties and much hardship and peril. Its losses have been severe, but those inflicted on the enemy have been indefinitely greater. That it stood the climate and the hardships so well was due to the fact that Major General Otis and his division commanders were tireless in their efforts to see that the men were supply system was excellent, our surgeons, ambulance service and hospitals equally good, and there was a total absence of complaint or cause for it.

That it encountered peril with such discipline and dauntless courage was due to the fact that the army was made up, with a little leaven of regulars, mainly of far western volunteers accustomed to rough it hunting, fishing, ranching and prospecting in the mountains and most of the regiments had several months of steady drill and reaseless outpost duty and were well acclimated, too, before the clash came.

That no really decisive result has jet been obtained is due to the fact that, though hundreds of Filipinos have been killed, there are thousands to take their places. Every ablebodied Tagal must serve when called on or suffer the consequences. The homes of a community of would be neutrals in the rear of Ovenshine's brigade went up in smoke and flame in a single night, fired by insurgent sympathizers in Manila. When a man drops on their fighting line, his rifle and ammunition are handed to another in the unarmed reserve.

Their wounded they leave to us for nursing, having found that they are cared for, even in large numbers, as tenderly as our own. This shows their butcher them. If they would stand up sagacity. They burden us, better their and fight, their army would make a wounded and free themselves. Time and again I have seen our men giving their wounded drink or food, and no The only way to suppress them is to hard to bear as the statements published into a corner, where they would you? he said. I told him no. 'He inlished in certain prominent journals of Gotham and Massachusetts to the effect that we slaughtered helpless natives and mercilessly shot down unfortunates armed only with bow or spear. That whole story about bowmen and and remembers the glorious victory the spearmen, which led to such hysterical editorials, was absolutely false.

The battle of Feb. 5 was a fair and if anything, were better armed than we, for except the Fourteenth regulars and the little battalion of the Third artillery our whole force had only the Springfield rifles, while the enemy had the Mausers, of much longer range. There was not a bowman or spearman sassination of gallant Luna, who twice within range of Manila, and even a practicability, says the St. Louis Remost admirably formed and led his heavy sum offered to any man who public. could find a spear or bow failed to pro-MacArthur had thrown across the Rio | duce one. Intoo, the case of Colonel Arguelles, the | deed, there is much in the Philippine campaign to remind us of the interminable Indian affairs we of the cavalry and infantry of the army were engaged in for years after the civil war.

To conclude, then, it must be remembered that these people have had fine schooling in partisan warfare; that particularly adapted to the purposes their men number thousands more than in view and within which a setting ours; that they can scatter when they or laying fowl may perform her funcwish and assemble where they will, tions without interruption or intruand that we cannot with the force now at General Otis' disposal begin to hold the towns or lines from which we drive them, and that men, guns and horses in abundance should be sent to administer the crushing blows that must be given. BACK FROM THE PHILIPPINES

A Missouri Soldier Talks Interestingly of the War.

William E. Jackson returned to Paris, Mo., recently from the Philippine Islands, where he has been serving as a private in the Tennessee regicosts thousands of men and millions ment. He took part in the first battles of money the insurgents who rewarded with the Filipinos, but contracted rheumatism from exposure and was sent home. To the St. Louis Globe-Democrat correspondent he said:

"The rainy season is now on in the armed Tagals, protected as they were islands, and campaigning will be next to impossible for some time to come. I believe the present force, 30,000 men, would be sufficient to subdue the insurgents if the entire force could be put into the field, but with the large number needed to garrison Manila and other points and the large numbers in the hospitals from sickness and wounds, General Otis has a very small force left to prosecute the war. I believe he ought to have 50,000 men under his command. At the outbreak of hostilities Manila was practically free of Filipinos of fighting age. Those who had not joined Aguinaldo's army of their well fed, clothed and cared for. Our own accord had been forced into his ranks by threats, but, as soon as they could do so with safety, hundreds of them deserted and sought protection inside our lines. The natives seem divided on the question of American sovereignty, a goodly per cent of them being in favor of it. There are as many tribes in the islands as there are tribes of Indians in the United States, but the insurgent army is mainly made up of members of two or three tribes in the island of Luzon. When this island is pacified the war will be at an end.

> "The Filipinos seldom make a stand, and that is one reason they have not been suppressed. We could not keep them in range long enough to suppress them. They are well armed and have ammunition to waste. Their worrying tactics make the service very disagreeable. All night long they keep up them bang away, but to guard against surprise we had to sleep on our arms, ready to fight at any minute. It is useless to reply to their fire at night, because they are either out of range or so well concealed that we cannot locate them. When morning comes they are gone. They watch their chances and waylay any stragglers or small squads that may fall into their hands and miserable showing against the discipline and pluck of the American troops. be forced to fight or surrender.

"The wrecks of 11 of the Spanish ships Dewey sunk in Manila bay can still be seen. It makes every soldier proud and patriotic when he sees them American ships won in front of Manila."

Not Raised in Florida.

The palms are as natural in appearance as if they had been grown instead of manufactured and probably not one person in a dozen among the restaurant's patrons is aware of their artificial

An afternoon or two ago an elderly couple, evidently from the rural districts, came into the restaurant and tock a seat. They gave their order and then began to look around.

"That's a handsome palm, Henry!" exclaimed the woman, pointing to the largest specimen. "I wonder if it grew that big in here?"

"Of course it didn't," replied the man, with a look of superior wisdom. "It was raised down in Floridy. That's where they all grow, and then they are shipped up here.'

Just then one of the restaurant's attaches approached the palm with a dampeloth in his hand. Taking hold of one of the leaves he yanked it from the stem and began to rub it vigorously with the cloth. When he had cleaned the leaf to his satisfaction, he replaced it and pulled another. By this time "Henry's" face was a study, as was also that of his companion.

THE ATTACK ON OTIS.

Correspondents' "Round Robin" Caused a Sensation.

MILES AND MEIKLEJOHN SILENT.

Hay Had Received Advices Which Led Him to Declare Situation Improved. Corbin Declared Facts Had Not Been Suppressed In Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 18 .- The publication of the war correspondents' formal indictment of General Otis' management of the Philippine campaign caused a sensation in the departments here. Secretary Hay had received advices from civil as well as military sources in the Philippines which led him to declare that the situation there was certainly improved materially and that the prospects for the future had brightened very much. With these advices, the secretary said, General Otis had had nothing to do, and they were from disinterested persons whose opinions must carry weight. Generally, there was strong disinclination exhibited by the officials to discuss this last "round" robin." General Miles, who was acting as secretary of war in the absence of Secretary Alger and Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn, would not comment upon the dispatch.

Regarding statements that cable dispatches received in Washington and other news regarding the war had been ! censored contrary to the usual custom, Adjutant General Corbin said:

Yes, these complaints have been brought to my notice; a word of explanation is perhaps due the country, no less than the department. The enormous amount of work the office has been called upon to perform has taxed to the limit the endurance of the clerks. who, hy the way, are as competent as any that can be found anywhere. Complaints were made by several of the assistants and clerks that our clerks were being annoyed and their time taken from legitimate work by direct application for information from people in no way connected with the office or the public service. As a matter of protection of the public interests and good administration, the order of June 22

The censure of the so-called censored press is without just cause, and J. Reisig, M. First Colorado. evidently made under misapprehension ! of facts. There has been no informa-tion received from General Otis that has not been given to the press promptly on the bulletin board in the hall of this office; every fairminded representative of the press will bear witness to this statement. What would the manager of any one of the complaining papers say if information concerning the business of the paper was inquired for of the printers rather than at the business office of the paper? This is a case exactly in point.

"The standing instructions of the president and secretary of war are that the public shall be given all information we receive; this has been done and will continue to be done. Of course, plans of campaigns that would be of help to Aguinaldo and other rebels have not. and will not be, promulgated, but all facts of events transpired have been given in fullness."

OTIS MADE PROMICES.

Told Correspondents the Censorship Would Be More Liberal-Charges Made In Their Statement.

MANILA, July 11, via Hongkong, July 18.-About a month ago correspondents framed a statement which was presented on Sunday, July 9, to Major General Otis, commanding the military forces of the United States in the Philippine islands, with a request for permission to telegraph it to the United States. The correspondents also asked that they be allowed to cable to their respective papers all facts and different phases of events as they transpired here. The correspondents had two long interviews with General Otis, in the course of which they complained that the evident purpose of the censorship was not to keep information from the enemy, but to keep from the public a knowledge of the real condition of affairs here. It was also asserted by the correspondents that newspapers printed in Manila, which reach the enemy quickly, were permitted to publish statements similar to those which correspondents were forbidden to cable.

General Otis finally promised greater liberality, agreeing to pass all matter that he might consider not detrimental to the interests of the United States. General Otis appointed Captain Green of his staff censor.

The statement of the correspondents was as follows:

The undersigned, being all staff correspondents of American newspapers stationed in Manila, unite in the following statement: "We believe that, owing to official dispatches from Manila made public in Wasnington, the people of the United States have not received a correct impression of the situation in the Philippines; but that these dispatches have presented an ultra optimistic view that is not shared by the general officers in the field.

"We believe the dispatches incorrectly represent the existing conditions among the Philippines in respect to dissension and demoralization resulting from the American campaign and to the brigand character of their army.

"We believe the dispatches err in the declaration that 'the situation is well in hand,' and in the assumption that the insurrection can be speedily ended without a greatly increased force.

"We think the tenacity of the Filipino purpose has been underestimated and that the statements are unfounded that volunteers are unwilling to engage in further service.

"The censorship has compelled us to participate in this misrepresentation by excising or altering uncontroverted statements of facts on the plea, as General Otis stated, that 'they would alarm the people at home,' or 'have the people of the United States by the ears.

A WOMAN IN UNIFORM.

Put Off the Train Carrying the Nineteenth Infantry, Enroute to the Philippines.

PITTSBURG, July 18.—The First and Third battalions of the Nineteenth infantry, from Camp Meade enroute to the Philippines via San Francisco over the Pennsylvania road, passed through here. There were five trains, one of 18 cars containing regimental baggage and equipment and the other four of 10 and 11 cars each for the soldiers. It is not known just when the remaining battalion will leave Camp Meade, but it will not be long.

A handsome woman, probably 25 years old, the wife of a private in Company K, was discovered on the train, dressed in the regulation army uniform. She came from Martinsburg, W. Va., and boarded the train at Harrisburg. It was her purpose in disguising herself to accompany her husband to Manila and be near him while in the Philippines. She had closely cut her black tresses. She was put off the train in this city. She bid her husband an affectionate farewell and told him that she would meet him in San Francisco. HARRISBURG, July 18.—Recruits for the new Twenty-seventh and Twentyeighth regiments of volunteers for the Philippine service were reaching Camp Meade from various sections at the rate of from 25 to 100 per day and there are several hundred at Camp Meade at

The Oregon men can draw upon this clothing credit if they want to and get overcoats or other things, but it will be charged to their clothing account and taken out of the money paid them when they are mustered out.

WHAT MILES RECOMMENDED

He Did Want More Than Six Thousand Troops Sent to the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, July 18 .- A statement was issued at army headquarters, regarding the discussion in the press, as to differences of opinion regarding the troops to be sent to the Philippines. Upon receiving news of Dewey's victory. General Miles recommended that 5,000 men and certain guns be sent. Later Admiral Dewey asked for 5,000 men, saying the Spanish force was estimated at 10,000 and rebels 30,000.

General Miles therefore recommended about 15,425 men, over 10,000 more than Dewey asked for, Miles thinking we should have more than the Spaniards.

Merritt objected to so many volunteers and wanted more regulars. Miles maintained that the force he designated and the men of the Tenth Pennsylvania, which in addition were assigned, were sufficient. The statement closed as follows: "Certain newspapers have attempted to show that General Miles did not want more than 6,000 troops to be sent to the Philippines under General Merritt, but the official correspondence shows this not to be a fact."

ANOTHER FUED BROKE OUT.

Five Men Killed In a Fight In Kentuckey.

LOUISVILLE, July 18.—A special from London, Ky., tells of a report reaching there of the outbreak of another feud in Clay county by which five men lost their lives.

The dead are said to be: Robert Philpot.

Ed Fisher Aaron Morris. Jim Griffin.

Hugh Griffin.

These fatalities resulted from a pitched battle fought near Little Goose creek, three miles from Manchester.

The feud dates back nearly two years.

BLOODY FIGHT WITH ROBBERS.

One Bandit and an Officer Killed-Others Wounded.

EAST LAS VEGAS, July 18.-Word was received here that the dead body of one of the train robbers concerned in the Folsom train robbery on the Colorado Southern railway had been conveyed to Cimarron, N. M., from the scene of the fight and was afterwards taken to Springer, where an inquest was held. The other two robbers abandoned their horses and were being pursued.

Later accounts of the fight state that the train robbers were overtaken at about 5 o'clock Sunday morning in the canon ten miles above Cimarron. About 50 shots were exchanged.

Sheriff Ed Farr received the first wound in the wrist, but bandaged it and renewed the battle. He was shot a second time through the body and fell dead. F. H. Smith, another member of the posse, was shot through the leg. H. N. Love sustained a dangerous wound through the thigh. Special Officer Reno remained on the scene until 8 o'clock Sunday night, and then left for Cimarron to secure medical aid, which was secured at Springer.

ter's department. President McKinley Street Car Men Again Out In Cleveland.

Employes Charged That Company Officials Did Not Keep Their Agreement In Full-Mayor Farley Declared He Would Protect Cars Against Violence.

CLEVELAND, July 18 .- The inauguration of a second strike by the employes of the big Consolidated Railroad company was a complete surprise to the putlic and nearly so to the company. Ever since the men returned to work, about three weeks ago, under an agreement prepared by a committee of the city council and signed by representatives of the strikers and of the company, there had been frequent complaints on the part of the men that the company was not living up to the agreement. Several conferences were held, the latest about a week ago, and it was then announced that everything was satisfactory or would be as soon as the company had been given ample time to adjust its schedules and arrange the runs.

The presence on cars of the nonunion men who were retained after the settlement of the strike was still a bone of contention, however, and a crisis was reached when, as is claimed, a number of union men were discharged for refusing to go out on cars with nonunion men. A meeting followed and the decision to strike was reached. All the lines were tied up for awhile when the operation of the Euclid avenue line with non-union men under police protection was undertaken. Cars were run at five-minute intervals on that line until evening, but no attempt was made to move cars on other lines.

Henry A. Everett, president of the company, issued a statement in which he says the terms of the agreement with the strikers has been strictly adhered to, but it was impossible to inaugurate all the reforms promptly because of the continued interference with the non-union crews and he holds the union men directly responsible for this. He attributes the present strike to a feeling of disappointment on the part of the union men because the nonunion men have not been "mobbed and beaten out of the company's service.' He says he will operate the cars if he is given police protection. Protection All He Is Likely to Get, as General Otis has been promised by Mayor Farley and it is said that the militia will be called out if the police are unable to preserve order.

There has been a little disorder, but nothing of a serious nature.

BOTH SIDES STUBBORN.

The Trolley Strike In Brooklyn Apparently Was No Nearer a Settlement.

NEW YORK, July 18 .- The strike situation in Brooklyn remained unchanged. The striking employes were even more determined and the managers of the rapid transit lines were obdurate and unflinching.

Cars were run on most of the lines governed by the traction company from early morning until 7 o'clock in the evening, but after sundown there was a considerable falling off in the service. and by 9 o'clock not a car was moving on any of the lines affected by the striking motormen and conductors. The roads comprising the Nassau system were most effectively crippled.

None of the striking employes returned to work, and most of them were busy during the day influencing union and non-union men on the other lines to quit work. In this respect the strikers were partially successful, but they made no inroads on the running of the Putnam avenue cars. This line is practically intact, not more than haif a dozen of its employes being affiliated with the strikers.

The Coney Island Railroad company picked a rich harvest on all of its lines during the day. The Franklin avenue, Smith and Jay street, Hamilton avenue and De Kalb lines were running on full time and carried a great number of passengers throughout the day and

The Coney Island company lived up to its agreement with its employes, and consequently its business was not interfered with in the slightest. In fact, the business on these roads was considerably augmented, as many travelers patronized the cars, although in many cases going blocks out of their way to

The strikers held a meeting to which they invited President Rossiter and Seth L. Keeney. Speeches were made on both sides, but toward the close of the meeting President Rossiter told the men that they could come back to work at 6 o'clock last evening, but he assured them that the company would not concede any of their demands, and expressed himself as believing that the strikers had no grievances to back up their actions.

"There is no strike nor cause for it," said Mr. Rossiter. "You lie, you lie," came from 500 it looked for a time as ir serious trouble would ensue. Fortunately wiser heads governed the more active strikers and no damage was done to either of the representatives of the company.

MAYOR HARRISON DECLINED

Refused to Welcome Democratic Committeemen, as He Didn't Like the Local Committee.

CHICAGO, July 18.-Mayor Carter H. Harrison sent the following letter to the committee in charge of arrangements for the Democratic meeting at the Auditorium July 20.

J. F. Cooling, Esq., Chairman Committee of Arrangements:

DEAR SIR-Replying to your favor of the 14th inst., in which you ask me to deliver an address of welcome at the Auditorium, July 20, to the national Democratic committee and "a large number of other prominent Democrats of America," I regret my inability to accept. In ordinary circumstances I should be only too glad, both as mayor of Chicago and as a Democrat, to welcome the national committee or any number of prominent Democrats to Chicago, the city in which the platform of 1896 was framed, and in which William J. Bryan was elevated to his present leadership of the national Democracy. I can not but think, however, it would be an absurdity to welcome these distinguished men under the auspices of a self-constituted committee whose personnel is too obscure to be known even in its home city. Had this meeting been organized under the direction of Democrats of regular type and known party standing, it would have afforded me great pleasure to be present. In the existing circumstances, while thanking you for the honor, I must beg leave to be excused.

Respectfully yours, CARTER H. HARRISON.

Altgeld said he was sorry the young man had failed to accept the opportunity to make himself a party leader.

Gorman Will Not Attend.

BALTIMORE, July 18 .- Former United States Senator Arthur P. Gorman will probably not be able to attend the coming meeting of the Democratic national committee, mhich will take place in Chicago Thursday next, but will likely be represented in the meeting by Colonel L. Victor Baughman of Frederick county, who holds Mr. Gorman's proxy for this occasion.

BREVET FOR COL. HAWKINS.

Refused to Recommend His Promotion.

Washington, July 18.-Representative Graham of Allegheny, who brought the subject of Colonel Hawkins' promotion up in a talk with the president, was informed that General Otis had failed to recommend the colonel for promotion. In fact, it appears that General Otis expressly declined to make the recommendation in answer to a direct inquiry sent him at the president's sug-

This action of Otis is a serious obstacle in the way of conferring the desired honor on Colonel Hawkins if the established usages of the military service are to be followed. Another obstacle which the president intimated stood in the way is the fact that the list of brigadier generals is now full, and that the war department authorities take the position that no further nominations in the grade can be made, even temporarily.

Altogether Mr. Graham got the impression tha Colonel Hawkins' promo-tion was not probable. He thinks, however, that the executive will give the colonel the brevet rank of brigadier before he is mustered out. To this there does not appear to be any obstacle.

All the East End churches have been notified by Chief Factory Inspector Knaub, of Columbus, to make some changes in their buildings. Each church was carefully inspected by Deputy Factory Inspector Reuben Hull several weeks ago, and a report of his inspection was forwarded to Columbus soon afterward. Saturday T. F. Anderson, president of the board of trustees of the Second Presbyterian church, Henry Chambers, of the Second M. E. and Archie Searight, of the Second U. P. churches, received notice to have all doors changed to swing outward and to erect stand pipes or place fire extinguishers in different parts of the churches.

When the Second U. P. church was built the doors were made to swing in the same manner as the law required, and in this respect the church will be put to no additional expense. The work of improving the various buildings will be commenced not later than next week.

While chopping wood in the Anderson addition yesterday morning Harry Wolf received a deep cut in the back, near the right shoulder. Wolf was chopping wood at the foot of a small hill, while Alfred McKinnon was hewing a chestnut tree tree at the top of the hill. When the tree was about to fall a branch of it struck McKinnon on the hands, causing the ax to fall. It struck Wolf, inflicting a three inch cut. A big leak has occurred in the Bridgewater main near the recent washout on the street railway. The break should be fixed as there is much gas escaping from the hole.

STEUBENVILLE TOO

Offers That Town a Library on Same Terms as Ours.

Steubenville will also have an opportunity to secure a $50,000 library from Andrew Carnegie, on the same terms as Sometime ago Dr. A. M. Reid, of Steubenville, wrote to Mr. Carnegie, calling his attention to the fact that at one time he had been employed in Steubenville as a telegraph operator. Mr. Carnegie replied, stating that he remembered the days he spent in Stenbenville and that at some future time he might do something for Steubenville if the citizens would show a disposition to help sustain a library.

On Saturday Doctor Reid received another letter containing a similar offer to that sent to Attorney Travis for East Liverpool both letters having evidently been mailed at the same time.

Steubenville is enthusiastic over the matter and proposes to accept the offer. The library will be maintained by a one mill tax the same as in this city. Several sites have been offered.

Mr. Dusenoury was the appointee of Mayor Samuel J. Swartz, Republican, who was elected last spring. The report of the committee of doctrine, composed of members of the various provinces, was uanimously approved by the synod. It commits the church to the maintenance of the fundamental truths of Holy Scripture as the only rule of faith and practice. The synod elected Bishop Romig of Ohio as president of the executive board of the church.

Representatives of the three provinces moved the adoption of a resolution commendatory to a degree only short of being mandatory, recommending to the executive board the calling of the next general synod at Bethlehem, Pa., in 1900.

Foreign Expert's Plan of Philippine Campaign.

The idea current in American newspapers of raising 100,000 men and "crushing the rebels once for all" is a most foolish one. Such a force would only cost millions and accomplish nothing. You cannot maneuver 100,000 men in a tropical forest, or feed them either, says the London Spectator. Ten thousand regulars well led, steadily re-enforced from home and aided by 5,000 native auxiliaries, will do the work much better, if only it is once understood that the work to be done is to establish and protect a government in each district occupied, a government intent on restoring order and prosperity.

WOMEN'S SECRETS.

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over thirty years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, and the honor paid him by the profession as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases,

Some Pertinent Questions That Can Be Answered With One Reply.

Why is it that in East Liverpool and its suburbs with a combined population of 1,400 there is only one medical preparation which gives statements from residents to back up its representations. Why is it that Doan's Kidney Pills do this in East Liverpool as in every other town and city of any importance in the Union?

Why is it that there are advertised in every newspaper a dozen remedies and only one can supply local proof, local endor-ation of its claims?

The solution of the problem is simple. Only one remedy has the curing and staying power. Other remedies make all kinds of gigantic yet futile efforts to get local proof but the attempt ends in producing a statement or two from places that as far as East Liverpool is concerned might just as well live in the moon. Here is East Liverpool proof which backs up the merits.

Mrs. William James who lives at 283 Third street, says: "I was troubled off and on for eight years with a weakness of the back and kidneys, a dull aching pain across my loins, up under my shoulder blades and rheumatic pains in my right shoulder. I was very susceptable to changes in the weather and was so bad at times that I could scarcely stand and support my own weight. The trouble affected my nervous system, causing a frequent fluttering of the heart and shortness of breath. generally resorted to porous plasters, but the relief was only temporary. got Doan's Kidney Pills at the W. & W. pharmacy and obtained instant relief. The symptoms all left, and there was nothing wrong with my kidneys after the treatment. Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U.S. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

FIGHT WITH A GAME FISH.

UP VERY RAPIDLY First Tuna of the Season Landed After an Exciting Struggle.

> One of the most remarkable experiences ever reported by fishermen took place near Catalina island recently, illustrating the power of the game fish of southern California, says the New York Sun. The annual tournament of the Tuna club of Los Angeles has created great interest. Ten or 12 members of the club have been trying night and day to land the first tuna of the season.

C. F. Holder, president of the Tuna club, and Mr. Townsend of Philadelphia, with Jim Gardner as boatman, started the other day for Long point, towed by the launch Minnehaha, in charge of Mr. Bassett of Pasadena. Off White's Landing four miles from Avalon, they struck a large school of tunas, the flying fish darting in every direction. Townsend had the first strike, but failed to hook. A second later Holder had a strike. In a moment the boat was rushing astern after the fish. The rod was the lightest ever used for tuna, and the line was the Tuna club regulation one of 21 strands.

After a hard struggle the fish was finally brought to gaff in 40 minutes Holder passed the tip of his reel forward, and Gardner hooked to the fish with the gaff and proceeded to haul it in. Just as it was landed the fish made a leap and capsized the boat, about a mile from shore south of the Long point. The launch was some distance away, having kept off to avoid the line when the fish was playing.

Holder's end of the boat sunk, and, seeing that it would not hold them all, he struck out for the launch, which he finally reached, although greatly exhausted. The sunken boat would not hold the two men and the fish, and it rolled over and over several times, the long wire leader of Holder's line having wound around Townsend's legs. Jim Gardner started for the launch to give Townsend the boat alone, which was now turned bottom up, allowing Townsend to climb on the keel and float.

All this time Jim Gardner held on to Holder's fish by the gaff. He swam from the sunken boat, still holding the fighting fish. Sometimes he was on the fish, sometimes the fish was on him. Three times the gamy fish made plunges, carrying Gardner under water. He finally reached the launch and never released his hold on the fish until Holder, Fassett and Mrs. Gardner hauled it in. Then Gardner was pulled over the side, and Townsend, who had insisted upon the fish being landed before he was rescued, was picked up.

This was the first leaping tuna of the season. The club offered a prize of a handsome rod to the angler who caught the first fish and a rod to the boatman who gaffed it. Gardner gets both prizes. Holder having given his hit to him.

LOVE'S LONG TEST.

Romance Recalled by the Death of Mrs. Stella Lanier.

The grave closed recently over Mrs. Stella Lanier at Indianapolis, the last actor in a love story that has thrilled Indiana for 55 years.

It was that long ago that Alexander C. Lanier, a rich youth, and Samuel Seering, a poor boy, courted Stella Godman, the belle of Madison. The rivalry was so close, so open and so friendly that the whole town watched its development. Stella favored first one, then the other and finally seemed to decide on Lanier. Exulting in his victory, the rich man paid a long visit to his brother, the present banker, in New York. But before he left Madison he said to Seering

"Sam, take care of my girl while I am gone.

"I'll do it and marry her into the bargain," retorted Sam.

Sure enough, he did. Then Lanier settled down to a bachelor's life and wooed and won dollars until he was the richest man in Indiana. He was the best friend Seering and wife had. The husband went to the war, came back a colonel and an invalid and was nursed by his devoted wife-and Lanier. Colonel Seering became a confirmed invalid, and Lanier sent him and his wife to

Hot Springs and visited them there. One night the hotel caught fire, and Lanier rescued the invalid at the risk of his own life. So it went on for 45 years, and then Stella was a widow. Five months later she married Lanier. A more devoted old couple never lived than the Laniers, and Colonel Seering was the one both loved to talk about. The rich man gave all his wealth to make up to his aged sweetheart all she had lost by being the life partner of a poor invalid. Five years ago he died. A few days ago the widow died. Today she lies with her two lovers-one on either side. Never a breath of scandal marred the lives of the three, and Hoosier lovers speak of them with reverence as they stroll in the moonlight on the banks of the Wabash, far away .-New York Journal.

Tires For Automobiles.

The future tire of the automobile is a subject of much interest among those who own electric vehicles. Artnur Call on J. C. B. Beatty. Lewis of Boston, who is in the automobile business and has recently returned from the continent, told a New York Tribune reporter at the Holland House recently that the future tire would be made of solid rubber.

"The disadvantages of the tire now in use are manifest," he said. "It is unsightly and in every way unsatis factory. While I was in Paris I noticed that the solid tire was in great favor there. Of course there are many difficulties to be overcome before it can be used on all vehicles. What we want is a solid rubber tire which will combine flexibility with durability, and we will find it sooner or later.'

St. Louis started in to raise $5.000. 000 for a world's fair, and the task up peared to be a very difficult one. It was a large amount of money, but the subscription was promptly forthcoming, and St. Louis is now preparing to surpass in 1903 all previous world's fairs in history. St. Louis would probably not have undertaken the affair unless she had felt quite sure she could surpass Chicago.-San Antonio (Tex.) Express.

Words. Keep a watch on your words, my sisters,

For words are wonderful things. They are sweet, like the bees' fresh honey; Like the bees, they have terrible stings. They can bless like the warm, glad sunshine And brighten a lonely life.

They can cut in the strife of anger Like an open two edged knife.

Let them pass through your lips unchallenged If their errand is true and kind. If they come to support the weary, To comfort and help the blind.

If a bitter, revengeful spirit Prompt the words, let them be unsaid. They may flash through a brain live lightning Or fall on a heart like lead.

Keep them back if they're cold or cruel, Under bar and lock and seal. The wounds they make, my sisters,

Are slow and hard to heal. May Christ guard your lips, and ever, From the time of your early youth, May the words that you daily utter Be the words of beautiful truth.

THE PHILIPPINES.

The Democratic journals throughout the country are grossly misrepresenting the condition of affairs at Manila and the adjacent country, and are deliberately doing this in order to make political capital, burying patriotism and love of country out of sight, and doing all they can to hamper and hinder the administration. We glory in the fact that Wm. McKinley is both soldier and statesman-that he has the nerve and conrage essential to the exalted position he occupies; that he believes he is in the right in his conduct of affairs in the Philippines, and will nobly stand by the officers and men now on duty at Manila, and furnish the commanding officer with all the troops necessary for the subjugation of the insurgent forces. And we glory in the fact that the masses of our people are ready to stand by President McKinley and the administration, and furnish all troops that are called for. Private letters from the men who are in the trenches, and doing loyal duty for Old Glory, give the lie direct to the newspaper correspondents who have been forbidden to send sensational and lying reports to the papers they represent. These men who are at the front, facing the foe, state that Uncle Sam is taking splendid care of them, and that it is simply wonderful, the superb manner in which good rations await them when they come off cossack and outpost duty.

Board of Health Held a Secret Session.

SANITARY REDUCTION COMPANY

Were the Lucky Bidders and a Committee Was Appointed to Draft Regulations-An Ordinance Must Be Passed by the Council Before the Matter Is Finally Settled.

The board of health has recently become a very august body and last evening decided to hold an executive session in order that their speeches might flow on without fear of being given to the public.

All members of the board were present and the reporters were asked to retire while the board considered the bids for disposing of garbage. The board carefully canvassed all the bids, and after spending several hours in session it was decided to accept the bid of the Sanitary Reduction company to dispose of the garbage and collect for the same from the property owners. The bids of the Dixon and Thackaray companies were to dispose of the garbage and collect from the city.

A committee composed of Doctor Andrews and Doctor Ogden was appointed to confer with Solicitor McGarry and draft rules and regulations governing the collection and disposal of the garbage. A special meeting will be held Thursday evening to hear the report of the committee.

At the meeting of council to be held Tuesday evening the action of the board will be reported to them, and they will be asked to pass an ordinance regulating the price to be charged by the company.

Congressman R. W. Tayler today, in company with Judge Billingsley and many other Columbiana county people, attended the funeral of Judge L. W. King, of Youngstown, at Columbiana. Mr. Tayler sends the following tribute to the memory of his dead friend:

"From the beginning of my acquaintance with Judge King down to the hour of his death there was not a moment when I did not admire and respect him. Since 1894 I have known him well. He was an honorable man. And he deserves to be long remembered. Having said this it is less important to say he was a man of brains, shown everywhere. As he was morally straightforward so he was intellectually direct. It is a pity he should have died so soon. Whether he was right or wrong his life and example were an enormous influence for good and cannot well be spared."

SWORD OF DREYFUS.

ftory of One Who Saw It Broken o

the Champs de Mars. Clyde W. Shropshire, United State vice consul in Paris at the time of Car tain Dreyfus' public degradation, de scribes the scene as follows in the New York World:

I was in Paris in 1895 and was one of the multitude on the Champs de Mars who witnessed the public degradation of Captain Dreyfus. I shall nev. er forget the scene. No one who did not see it can form any conception of the tense excitement of it all. The Dreyfus court martial had shaken all France to its very center, and this was its culmination.

Teeming thousands packed them selves around the outskirts of the great field and waited impatiently for the prisoner. There was some delay, and the crowd kept getting more impatient every minute. At last the measured tread of soldiers was heard keeping time to a solemn dirge, and Dreyfus was led out into the open space. The mob grew furious at sight of him. Only the restraint of the soldiers kept them from killing him then and there.

I craned my neck for a better view of him. I knew him from the thousands of photographs scattered all over Paris. I expected to see him hesitate and halt. But I was mistaken in my man. I had never seen him before, and whether he bore himself on all occasions as a soldier I know not. I only know that at the soldier and there was something about the man, an indescribable something, that said over and over again, "He's innocent."

And this was confirmed when the superior officer gave orders to divest him of his rank as officer and soldier. Like a flash Dreyfus' hand flew to his cap in military salute, which in recognition only received a sneer. As his stripes were torn from him and his sword broken and trampled under feet the victim stood erect, with head far back, his eyes flashing and not a tremor or a quiver in his strong face. Not a word came from his lips except the clear, proud ring of "Vive l'armee, Vive la Francaise!'

After his degradation the condemned soldier walked from the field to the prison van that stood in waiting. As he did so an excited Frenchman broke between the lines of guards, and before he could be stopped lifted his hand and struck the prisoner a hard slap in the face. Dreyfus only flashed his eyes upon the man and stiffened himself the more. He said nothing. Since then the world knows what Dreyfus must have suffered. But his liberation is at hand. Those of his accusers who have not fled or killed themselves are demoralized and a new trial means a speedy acquittal.

Important Exhibit to Be Made at Paris Exposition.

PLANS OF SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE.

Conditions Prevailing In Workshops and Business Houses Are to Be Shown - Progress Achieved by American Women and Results of the Club Movement to Be Set Forth.

The exhibit which the League For Social Service is busily collecting for presentation at the Paris exposition will attempt what has never before been offered-a view of the United States along the line of its sociological development.

As already announced, the league has been appointed by the United States commission special agent in the department of social economy. Its individual work will be the institutions and movements for improving social and industrial conditions, and it will undertake to show both existing conditions and what is being done to improve them.

The method of gathering data and putting it into shape for illustration is novel as it is interesting. The exhibit will be made by means of lantern slides, four to be shown at a time, with a fifth to interpret them in French and English. The matter will include gleanings from Maine to California.

Dr. W. H. Tolman, the secretary, recently returned from a trip to the west, gave a reporter for the New York World a graphic idea of the league's plans in this connection. He took as example a drop forge factory in Brook-

"Work in such an establishment," he explained, "is one of the severest trials of physical endurance. The firm has taken this into practical consideration. Each fire has a separate head and a separate chimney to carry off the heat, while a shaft above brings the cold air down on the workman.

"A 20 minutes' rest once a day gives a man an opportunity to enjoy the spray baths placed in the building by the firm for their convenience. Another inducement to cleanliness and therefore comfort is the washroom, with hot water, where the men may wash their soiled shirts, leaving them in the steam drying room overnight. All these things prolong the lives of the workmen, and the firm has reaped the commercial reward of being able to keep the factory running when other firms are obliged to shut down."

This odd bit of factory progress will make one series of slides. Another will present the gymnasium a large insurance house in the west has built for its employees.

A third shows the great lunchroom of a mammoth workshop, with the bill of fare as one picture, with vegetable soup and coffee free, and such items as milk at 2 cents, strawberries 4 cents,

Housing, homekeeping, hygienic, educational, religious and municipal progress will all come within the scope of the exhibit.

The lantern will be worked automatically, charged with 100 slides at a time and changed at intervals of two. three or five minutes, as desired. With each shift the lecturer will put the meaning of the pictures into words. In all this panorama of progress and its possibilities place will be found for the organized effort of women. For the first time the women's club movement will have opportunity to exploit its achievements for the betterment of the sex. The various philanthropiesand they are as numerous as the clubs themselves-will present a study of the new woman from a wholly novel viewpoint.

The League For Social Service is barely 10 months old, but the motive power behind it has been growing for so many years that it may be said, paradoxically, to have existed long before it was born. It is termed a clearing house in social economy and is in touch with sociological work the country over. President Dr. Josiah Strong and Secretary Dr. W. H. Tolman have long been prominently in the public eye in economic ventures. It boasts four bishops on its advisory board-Bishop Potter, Bishop Huntington of central New York, Bishop Hurst of the Methodist church and Bishop Vincent, also of that denomination. Its membership is a large one, and its treasurer is Spencer Trask. Firms, clubs and institutions of whatever sort are invited to communicate with the league as to possible sociological exhibits. The headquarters is at 105 East Twenty-second street, New York.

General Galliffet and William I.

The Germans ever had the highest admiration and respect for Galliffet, the new French minister for war, and when the cavalry hero attended the German maneuvers one autumn in the eighties by special invitation of the old emperor, he was treated with the most exquisite courtesy and consideration. His majesty placed him on his right hand at table and felt inclined to repeat, he remarked later, what Frederick the Great once said to the Austrian Marshal Daun on meeting him after the seven years' war. The marshat was for taking his place at table opposite the king, but Frederick exclaimed: "No. that will never do. Come and sit beside me. I know only too well what it is to have you on the other side."-London Chronicle.

"WHAT WOULD JESUS DO?"

National Political Party Organized

With Thir Motto and Platform. The United Christian party of America, a national political organization, was conceived at Des Moines the other day. It will nominate a full national ticket and make the presidential campaign of 1900 on a platform of four words, "What would Jesus do?"

"We can't go far wrong if we follow that motto," said Chairman W. C. Pidgeon of Richland recently. But a somewhat more elaborate platform was adopted as regards details. Direct legislation, by initiative and referendum, with the imperative mandate, is the method by which the party hopes to reform the government. The platform holds that governments derive their just powers from God through Christ and by the consent of the governed. A union of all Christians is asked, regardless of nationality, color, creed, sect or previous politics, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

A telegram was received by the con vention from the National Reform party in session at Pittsburg asking the United Christian party to unite forces with it. Chairman Pidgeon was instructed to carry on negotiations looking to such an amalgamation. As a committee to organize the party in other states were appointed W. R. Benkert of Davenport, C. Z. Lindley of Hedrick and J. F. Jensen of Dorchester, Wis. A national convention is to be called to meet in Chicago or Indianapolis this fall. The prospects now are that the convention will meet with that of the National Reform party in Chicago on Dec. 28.

LIGHTNING CURED HIS ARM

A Bolt Restored Vigor to a Limb Useless For Thirteen Years.

A remarkable freak of lightning occurred at East Brookfield, Mass., recently, when a sudden shock restored to its old time vigor the left arm of Eli Forbes, which had been useless for 13 years on account of rheumatism, says the New York Sun. While he was sitting at the window a thunder shower came up and with it were two sharp flashes of lightning.

With one of the tremendous crashes Mr. Forbes felt a sharp pricking of his flesh and tingling in his bones, and with a jerk his left arm shot violently forward from its cramped position The shock was over in a flash, and Mr. Forbes felt his left arm bristle with vitality and tingle with vigor. To his delight he found he could use the arm as well as ever.

She Didn't Like the Job.

"I used to work for a collection agency in one of the northern cities,' said a lady perfumery drummer, "and my experience was tolerably exciting. My duty was to sit at a roll top desk in the office and impersonate the proprietor. Light work, did you say? Just you wait. All day long men would come in red eyed to lick the boss. 'Where's the fellow that sends out these blackmailing letters?' was the usual salutation. Then I would smile sweetly and say: 'I'm the proprietress. What can I do for you?' At that the visitor would look dazed, mutter things under his breath and walk off.

"Well, things went along all right for nearly a month. Then one day a little, wiry chap walked in carrying a black cane. 'Where's the boss?' he said. I gave the usual fairy story. 'Don't believe a word of it.' he replied, 'still I can't beat a woman. He thought awhile, and something in his eye made me feel creepy 'I'll have to take it out on the fixtures, he said finally, and, upon my word, he broke every blessed thing in the shop. He did it quickly and systematically, and you never saw such an awful ruin! As a wind up he broke the chandelier and bade me a polite good day. When the proprietor came in. he had a fit. It was after that went into the perfumery business. The work is harder, but it is much less trying on one's nerves."- New Orleans Times-Democrat

Problems In Philippines Discussed by the General.

WHAT HE THINKS OF AGUINALDO.

He Declares the Tagals of Luzon Are Alone Capable of Self Government. says the Army Has a Hard Task to Whip Them-The Tricky Filipinos. Number of Men Needed by Otis.

Brigadier General Charles King, writing to the editor of the New York World, says:

In answer to your request, let me say that my reference to the Filipinos as capable of self government did not include the natives of Sulu, Mindanao and outlying islands. The Tagals of Luzon, however, are a people of superior mold as compared with the mountaineers and with the natives of other islands, who, having resisted Spanish invasion, had not the education given the Tagals by the priests of the church of Rome.

Cruel and tyrannical as were the Spaniards, and robbers and oppressors as were the friars of the various religious orders, it must be admitted that the Tagals owe their teaching in great measure to the priesthood, for churches, convents and schools abound everywhere in and around Manila and far to the north and south of that thronging city. One of the best works on the Philippines is that of Ramon Reves Lala, now a resident of New York city, and from him and from Padre Algue of the great Jesuit college in Ermita and Senor Arellano, now chief justice of Luzon, by appointment of General Otis, I gathered the information that nine-tenths of the adult Tagals could read and write.

I repeat that the Filipinos in and near Manila are industrious, frugal, temperate and clean. They do run to bolidays, on which they will not work, and many shops and offices have to close in consequence. Out of the 365 days in the year the Filipinos have 153 holidays, and if you subscribe for a Manila daily with the idea of getting 365 papers in the 12 months you will fall short by at least 160.

I repeat that they are most skillful artisans in many a trade and industry, that some of their sculpture and paintings will compare favorably with that of Europe and America, and as instrumental musicians they are wonderful. It must be owned that they produce also expert sneak thieves and accomplished liars, but in the latter point they have had three centuries of instruction from Spain.

Not only are there numerous and good schools for the mass of the population, all of whom appear to be devout Catholics, but the sons and daughters of the wealthier natives are sent to France and England for their education. The papers and records left behind in the insurgent flight from Santa Ana, San Pedro Macati and Guadalupe after their mad and wanton attack of Feb. 5 show that they had a very complete system of govern-

It may be argued that Aguinaldo's methods of disposing of rival politicians and beaten generals is summary in the last degree, as witness the assassination of gallant Luna, who twice most admirably formed and led his men to the attack of the little force MacArthur had thrown across the Rio Grande de Pampangas, but who failed to induce his Filipinos to charge, or the case of General Ricarti, whose brigade was opposed to mine at Santa Ana and left 160 dead upon the field, dozens drowned in the Pasig, and his Krupp guns, all his supplies and reserve ammunition in our hands. From prisoners and spies we heard he was sent to Malolos in arrest, tried by drumhead court martial and shot, but that may only be a Filipino lie. So, too, the case of Colonel Arguelles, the gifted gentleman Aguinaldo sent in hopes of wheedling General Otis into a three weeks' armistice on a Filipino promise to pay in peace propositions. Our corps commander has a soft heart, but a hard head. Arguelles went back with the mournful word that, like Grant at Donelson, Otis would listen to nothing but unconditional surrender, and the last we heard of Arguelles was that he was given 12 years in jail for

It may be argued that the Filipino is as unstable as a Frenchman and that does not like him. But mercurial France has maintained her republic over a quarter of a century with the loss of no more presidents by the hand of the assassin, in point of fact, than

It has been claimed by some papers that I favor Aguinaldo. I do not. I look upon him as a scheming politician and the tool of stronger minds, like that of Mabini, his chief adviser. It is held by some imperialists of the press that my assertion as to the capacity of the Tagals was unjustifiable, but I do not recall any adverse criticism on their part when Admiral George Dewey wrote precisely the same thing a year ago; and, though I did not know this when I wrote last month, I am rejoiced to have such distinguished support.

I am astonished, nowever, to be informed that certain antiadministrarion papers claim that my opinion of the Tagal means that I think the war should end, our troops be withdrawn and the islanders left to themselves. That inference is absolutely unjustifiable. Our flag must never be lowered in face of an armed foe, and if it of money the insurgents who rewarded our friendship with treachery and armed attack must be utterly subdued.

But I have said, and I repeat, that it is not an easy thing to whip those well every mile of the way from Manila to San Fernando by the finest field works science could devise. If driven from the plains they can retire to the mountains or the dense bamboo thickets, through which only in single file along crooked trails, can they be approached. Our little army in the Philippines has had to encounter great difficulties and much hardship and peril. Its losses have been severe, but those inflicted on the enemy have been indefinitely greater. That it stood the climate and the hardships so well was due to the fact that Major General Otis and his division commanders were tireless in equally good, and there was a total absence of complaint or cause for it.

That it encountered peril with such discipline and dauntless courage was due to the fact that the army was made up, with a little leaven of regulars, mainly of far western volunteers accustomed to rough it hunting, fishing, ranching and prospecting in the mountains and most of the regiments had several months of steady drill and reaseless outpost duty and were well acclimated, too, before the clash came. That no really decisive result has jet been obtained is due to the fact that, though hundreds of Filipinos have been killed, there are thousands to take their places. Every ablebodied Tagal must serve when called on or suffer the consequences. The homes of a community of would be neutrals in the rear of Ovenshine's brigade went up in smoke and flame in a single night, fired by insurgent sympathizers in Manila. When a man drops on their fighting line, his rifle and ammunition are handed to another in the unarmed reserve.

Their wounded they leave to us for nursing, having found that they are cared for, even in large numbers, as tenderly as our own. This shows their sagacity. They burden us, better their wounded and free themselves. Time and again I have seen our men giving pline and pluck of the American troops. their wounded drink or food, and no The only way to suppress them is to hurt or hardship at the front was so put enough soldiers in the field to drive hard to bear as the statements published in certain prominent journals of Gotham and Massachusetts to the effect that we slaughtered helpless natives and mercilessly shot down unfortunates armed only with bow or spear. That whole story about bowmen and spearmen, which led to such hysterical editorials, was absolutely false.

The battle of Feb. 5 was a fair and square fight, in which the insurgents, if anything, were better armed than we, for except the Fourteenth regulars and the little battalion of the Third artillery our whole force had only the Springfield rifles, while the enemy had the Mausers, of much longer range. There was not a bowman or spearman within range of Manila, and even a heavy sum offered to any man who could find a spear or bow failed to produce one. The army has hard knocks have used their churches as arsenals, their altars as magazines, their convents as forts; despite the fact that they have lurked in ambush in their protected homes, shot down our wounded, fired on the hospitals and used the sacred flag of truce as did the Modocs who murdered Canby and the peace commissioners in 1873, they have been mercifully dealt with throughout. Indeed, there is much in the Philippine campaign to remind us of the interminable Indian affairs we of the cavalry and infantry of the army were engaged in for years after the civil war.

To conclude, then, it must be remembered that these people have had fine schooling in partisan warfare; that their men number thousands more than ours; that they can scatter when they wish and assemble where they will, and that we cannot with the force now at General Otis' disposal begin to hold the towns or lines from which we drive them, and that men, guns and horses he will assassinate his president if he in abundance should be sent to administer the crushing blows that must be given. In Lawton and MacArthur, in Wheaton and Funston, General Otis has splendid division and brigade lead | the ers, and when the rainy season closes and roads and fields become once more passable let them be swept by 50,000 effective soldiers until the last armed foe has vanished. Then, and not till ened by a Missouri man. It consists then, "let us have peace."

One of the Fruits of Success.

The hostility to the Americane, which was so pronounced in France pressed and the knives, descending, during the Cuban war, has so far sub- cut through the can, severing the cover sided that the Parisians are now willing to furnish lodgings to visitors from the United States at much higher prices than have ever been charged before. - Kansas City Times.

BACK FROM THE PHILIPPINES

A Missouri Soldier Talks Interestingly of the War.

William E. Jackson returned to Paris, Mo., recently from the Philippine Islands, where he has been serving as a private in the Tennessee regicosts thousands of men and millions ment. He took part in the first battles with the Filipinos, but contracted rheumatism from exposure and was sent home. To the St. Louis Globe-Democrat correspondent he said:

"The rainy season is now on in the armed Tagals, protected as they were islands, and campaigning will be next to impossible for some time to come. I believe the present force, 30,000 men, would be sufficient to subdue the insurgents if the entire force could be put into the field, but with the large number needed to garrison Manila and other points and the large numbers in the hospitals from sickness and wounds, General Otis has a very small force left to prosecute the war. I believe he ought to have 50,000 men under his command. At the outbreak of hostilities Manila was practically free of Filipinos of fighting age. Those who had their efforts to see that the men were not joined Aguinaldo's army of their well fed, clothed and cared for. Our own accord had been forced into his supply system was excellent, our sur- ranks by threats, but, as soon as they geons, ambulance service and hospitals could do so with safety, hundreds of them deserted and sought protection inside our lines. The natives seem divided on the question of American sovereignty, a goodly per cent of them being in favor of it. There are as many tribes in the islands as there are tribes of Indians in the United States, but the insurgent army is mainly made up of members of two or three tribes in the island of Luzon. When this island is pacified the war will be at an end.

"The Filipinos seldom make a stand, and that is one reason they have not been suppressed. We could not keep them in range long enough to suppress them. They are well armed and have ammunition to waste. Their worrying tactics make the service very disdo is to keep behind cover and let them bang away, but to guard against surprise we had to sleep on our arms, ready to fight at any minute. It is useless to reply to their fire at night, because they are either out of range or so well concealed that we cannot locate them. When morning comes they are gone. They watch their chances and waylay any stragglers or small squads that may fall into their hands and and fight, their army would make a miserable showing against the discithem into a corner, where they would be forced to fight or surrender.

"The wrecks of 11 of the Spanish ships Dewey sunk in Manila bay can still be seen. It makes every soldier proud and patriotic when he sees them and remembers the glorious victory the American ships won in front of Ma-

NOVEL DEVICES PATENTED.

Unique but Practicable Products of Inventive Genius.

In the official grist of patents issued every Tuesday by the commissioner of patents at Washington many novel devices are given the official stamp of practicability, says the St. Louis Re-

A man in Kansas has invented a potato digger, which will do away with enough without this fire in the rear, the old fashioned methods of plowing and despite the fact that the Filipinos and then digging out the "Murphys." He provides a plowshare, with upwardly inclined bars or rods, which project rearwardly. When the plowshare turns up the potatoes, the loose earth sifts through these bars and leaves the vegetables on top of the ground.

Away out at Rising Sun, O., a woman, since deceased, conceived an idea that if a hen about to assume maternal cares were isolated from the rest of her kind she would be more at ease. She accordingly made a model of her device and obtained a patent for it. In describing her invention for the benefit of the patent office, she said: "The device constitutes a nest that is particularly adapted to the purposes in view and within which a setting or laying fowl may perform her functions without interruption or intru-

Disciples of Izaak Walton will be especially interested in a new fishing reel just patented by a Michigan man. The reel has for its object greater freedom for "casters," permitting the uninterrupted run of the line. This is accomplished by throwing out of gear "drag," "elick" and "master wheel." By this arrangement the inventor claims the line may be cast with the greatest possible freedom.

A novel can opener has just been patof a stand, in which is operated a standard carrying knife blade. When it is desired to open the can, the latter is placed under the knives, a lever is in one operation.

A man in Texas who has an eye for economy has just obtained a patent for a convertible churn and ice cream freezer. When it is desired to make the change, a receptacie for ice is put in position around the churn, and the same operation which produces butter makes ice cream.

Not Raised in Florida.

Among the interior decorations of a restaurant not many squares from city hall are a number of artificial palms. The palms are as natural in appearance as if they had been grown instead of manufactured and probably not one person in a dozen among the restaurant's patrons is aware of their artificial character.

An afternoon or two ago an elderly couple, evidently from the rural districts, came into the restaurant and took a seat. They gave their order and then began to look around.

"That's a handsome palm, Henry!" exclaimed the woman, pointing to the largest specimen. "I wonder if it grew that big in here?"

"Of course it didn't," replied the man, with a look of superior wisdom. "It was raised down in Floridy. That's where they all grow, and then they are shipped up here.'

Just then one of the restaurant's attaches approached the palm with a dampeloth in his hand. Taking hold of one of the leaves he yanked it from the stem and began to rub it vigorously with the cloth. When he had cleaned the leaf to his satisfaction, he replaced it and pulled another. By this time "Henry's" face was a study, as was also that of his companion.

"I guess that plant didn't grow in Floridy after all," the woman man aged to whisper "What do you guess. Henry?

And "Henry' allowed that he guessed the same thing.-Philadelphia Inquirer

Joke on the Major.

The major, just returned from Boston, tells in strict confidence this story "I had engaged my berth and was standing on the rear platform five minutes before the train pulled out of the Park square depot, when a middle aged woman and a handsome girl, both laagreeable. All night long they keep up dies, passed me and entered the car, a fire on our trenches, and all we can accompanied by a gentlemanly looking chap who carried their baggage. A moment later this fellow rushed up to me and said he was in a most embarrassing position, had his sister and mother aboard and had lost his mileage book. He would introduce me to them and give me any security for $25. I said I needed neither introduction nor security, but would give him $10-all I had to spare. He insisted on giving me his diamend scarfpin, and then rushed into butcher them. If they would stand up | the station to see if he could get more cash. As the train pulled out without him he came running wildly after it. but had to give it up.

"Then the porter approached me tentatively 'V Was that man annoying you?' he said. I told him no. 'He insisted on carrying the baggage of two ladies inside, sah, an-an-did he get any money out of you?'

" 'Of course he didn't,' said I, but I took the first opportunity of examining that pin It was worth about five cents."-Buffalo News.

Two Students and a Thief.

Some months ago two hungry university students in the south of Russia. coming home to their one bare room after a hard day's work for their living, caught a thief running off with their books. "Are you the fellow that stole other books of ours yesterday?" they asked.

"I am, little fathers, but hunger and want drove me to it. I am starving."

"So are we, brother, or next door to it, and you ought not to have hit upon us as your victims."

"Well, your door is more easily open ed; that's how it is," was the answer.

"We want those books for our examinations, brother; so you must get them back for us. But as you are cold and hungry now come in and join us in our supper. It is not much, but such as it is you are welcome. Here are 20 copecks for the beer. Run and fetch

An Incredulous Jury.

In a criminal prosecution recently tried in York, Neb., the jury, after a brief deliberation, returned the follow ing remarkable verdict: "We, the jury in the above named case, do not be lieve one word that the witnesses have sworn to; neither do we believe that any of the attorneys have spoken the truth, nor that either of them could do so even if he should care to take the trouble to try." The humor in remarks casting doubt upon the veracity of the legal profession has lost the freshness of early youth, and a good, stiff penalty for contempt in cases of this kind would probably redound to the benefit of mankind in general.-Law Notes.

Not the Usual Story.

"Say, there ....s an actress left $5,000 worth of j. wels in a street car here the other day."

"Oh, another of those advertising dodges, was it?"

"No. The jewels were worn by a lot of women who were returning from a South Side reception, and when the actress left the car the owners of the dia monds and other precious stones were still aboard."-Chicago News.
